

MORE STRIKE BREAKERS ARRIVE TO HANDLE BOSTON "L" TRAINS NO TROUBLE REPORTED TODAY

BOSTON, June 10.—The endurance stage in the strike of several thousand of the motormen and conductors of the Boston Elevated Co. was reached today with each side confident of outlasting the other.

Cars ran on all divisions with normal service in some cases and at infrequent times in others. The average crew was without uniform except for a round metal badge on the cap. There were no disturbances during the forenoon, although motormen in some districts were jeered from the sidewalk. No arrests were made.

The company published a notice that employees who had left their positions and who had not been implicated in any disturbance would be given until noon today to return. At that hour, it was stated at the company's office that a number of men had resumed work.

On the other hand International Organized Order of Railway Employees stated that not only were the men holding out for their demands for a minimum wage, shorter hours and recognition of the union, but additions to the strikers' ranks were being received hourly.

A band of strikebreakers reached here from New York early today and the men were distributed among the different divisions. The strikers' scouts managed to capture a few but the main body of newcomers were too closely guarded.

Organizer Fay said that his scouts had interviewed a number of men who were still running cars and that the reports indicated that if the strikers showed any considerable strength in the parade planned for tomorrow afternoon they would quit. Numerous instances occurred where motormen unfamiliar with routes turned down wrong streets and otherwise inconvenienced passengers. There also seemed to be a disinclination on the part of the riding public to use the cars and many retail stores in the city felt the decrease in the customary life of Monday bargain hunters. Steam railroad lines continued the harvest of nickels which have usually gone to the elevated company by running numerous extra trains in the five cent zone.

The elevated company through President William A. Bancroft, announced at noon that traffic had reached the normal.

Organizer Fay stated at the same hour that the traffic was scarcely more than 25 per cent. of the normal.

A LONG STRUGGLE IS WHAT THE EMPLOYEES ARE LOOKING FOR

BOSTON, June 10.—The strike of several thousand employees of the Boston elevated railway for a minimum wage and unionism settled down today to a question of endurance. A partial resumption of the trolley service was made at sunrise after a quiet night. The strikers claimed today to be receiving additions and will make a show of strength in a marching demonstration tomorrow.

There were many new faces on both front and rear platforms on the trolley cars today. Many of the carriers wore no uniforms except caps which bore round metal badges instead of the blue and white insignia of the regular employees. Many of the motormen wore numerous service stripes. Young men were accompanied by many men apparently receiving instructions in the work.

About 100 Strikebreakers
About 100 men reached the city from New York on one of the early morning trains. After having breakfast at the South station they were distributed about the different divisions of the road. One young man who came from New York on Saturday afternoon said today that he had no knowledge of electric cars. He said he was sent to South Boston and ran a car down Broadway for about two miles. The crowd became so threatening that he said he abandoned his car and joined the strikers.

At the strike headquarters many other men related similar experiences. The strike leaders expressed general satisfaction with the situation. They said they were confident of victory and offered to show evidence of scores of instances where inexperienced men had been placed in charge of cars.

That the disturbances in Dorchester, Jamaica Plain, Roxbury and Alston last night were due to the strikers was indignantly denied today by the strike leaders. It was admitted that the union men had representatives in the crowds but it was asserted that these men took no hand in the outbreaks.

The company announced that it was ready and willing to operate cars on a normal schedule as soon as sufficient protection was furnished. The company officers referred to several disturbances of last evening, to show that the operation of night lines was dangerous to the public.

Police on Duty
Large squads of police were sent to all the car barns when the service opened today and the police officials announced that the officials would be maintained there until released by the elevated company's superintendents. Officers rode on many of the cars but there were numerous instances where cars ran through densely populated districts without protection.

The company promised a nearer approach to normal service today and said that an attempt would be made to run all night cars and to maintain good service up to midnight. Except on the first day of the strike all the disturbances have taken place during the early evening hours when large crowds have gathered at the car barns and along some of the popular lines.

It has been during those hours of the day that stones have been thrown, trolley ropes cut, and arrests have been made.

Four men arrested in Cambridge on Friday for assaults on motormen and engaged in disorders in connection with the strike were sentenced to the house of correction for periods varying from two to six months.

At the offices of the elevated company it was stated that more than 20 employees had accepted the published terms of the company and returned for work at noon. At the same time a statement was issued that every effort would be made tonight to maintain the usual schedule in the suburban sections, where operations were largely suspended on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

SOLEMNITY OF THE FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI OBSERVED

Beautiful Services Held in Catholic Churches—Thousands Witnessed Processions

In all the Catholic churches yesterday the solemnity of the feast of Corpus Christi was observed with special services. Solemn services and processions were held and the churches and sanctuaries were beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The services at St. Patrick's were very elaborate and were witnessed by one of the largest crowds in the history of the parish. The usual procession through the church aisles and around the church and academy grounds was participated in by the children who were recently confirmed, those who made their first communion and the members of the many parish societies. The members of the choir, the altar boys and the clergy were also in line. The blessed sacrament was carried under a large canopy in a beautiful gold monstrance by Rev. John McHugh. The church and rectory and the grounds were beautifully decorated with the national colors.

The ceremonies opened with benediction of the blessed sacrament in the church, with a large congregation. The procession was then formed and moved to the grounds of Notre Dame academy where benediction was again given at an altar erected for the occasion. The procession then moved along Fenwick street and up the main entrance of the church grounds presenting a beautiful and impressive spectacle. Upon arrival at the repository erected near the monument, benediction was given. The line then marched into the church where the grand services were brought to a close with benediction of the blessed sacrament. Rev. John J. McHugh was celebrant, and he was assisted by Rev. Timothy Callahan as deacon and Rev. Joseph Curran as subdeacon. Mr. William O'Brien, P. R., preceded the officiating clergymen.

The procession was made up of the following: Thrice Edward Flannery, Cross Bearer Edward O'Neil and Acolytes Daniel Powers and John F. Stapleton. Miss Blanche Ross, as the angel of the procession followed the little boys and girls of the Infant Jesus sodality, all dressed in white, the boys wearing red sashes and the girls wreaths of flowers came next and they were followed by the boys and girls who recently made their first communion.

The little girls wore dresses and veils of white and the boys were attired in dark suits with bands of white ribbon on their arms.

Next came the members of the Holy Angels' sodality who made a fine appearance by their large numbers. Following were the boys and girls of the confirmation class. The Sacred Heart sodality of girls was next in order and was followed by the members of the Junior Holy Name sodality and the Children of Mary sodality. The immaculate Conception sodality came next, and then followed the Holy Family sodality. The members of the St. Cecilia choir and ninth grade pupils followed and then the members of the sanctuary choir, in charge of Brother Clement, alternated with the St. Cecilia choir in singing hymns as the procession moved through the grounds and street. A long line of flower girls or stewards preceded the officiating clergyman and the Lowell Cadet band, John J. Giblin, leader. The canopy, which covered the priest carrying the monstrance, was carried by Messrs. D. S. O'Brien, Dr. P. J. Bagley, John J. Sullivan and James Lyons.

James King and Michael Doherty were the stewards who walked beside of Fr. McHugh who carried the sacred host. The lantern bearers were John Powers, John O'Brien, William Gilligan, Edward Keeler, John Keefe, Arthur Connolly. The master of ceremonies at benediction was Edward Neilligan, and the attendants to Monsignor O'Brien were Peter Gill and Fred Kelly.

The emblem bearers who took part in the procession were: "Blessed Virgin," Regina Lyons; "Infant Jesus," Master John Donohoe; "Saint Cecilia," Miss Rhea Mosher; "Saint Agnes," Miss Mary C. Brennan; "Saint Elizabeth," Miss Gertrude Buckley; "Saint Catherine," Miss Anna Brodine; "Wheat," Miss Elizabeth Harrigan; "Grapes," Miss Evelyn Barrows; "Chalice," Miss Catherine Mooney; "Faith," Miss Gertrude O'Brien; "Hope," Miss Louise Mahoney; "Charity," Miss Eleanor Mahoney; "Mystical Rose," Helen Brennan; angels, Alice Tobin, Agnes Hennessy, Ethel Enwright, Elizabeth O'Brien, Elizabeth Coffey, Imelda Elmore, Sarah Richardson,

At St. Peter's

Corpus Christi was celebrated at St. Peter's church yesterday morning after the solemn high mass at 11 o'clock by a procession in which the blessed sacrament was borne through the aisles of the church, the sanctuary choir boys and the girls of the Children of Mary sodality accompanying the procession of the clergy bearing the monstrance.

The solemn high mass at 11 o'clock was celebrated by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, with Rev. Daniel J. Keeler, Ph. D., as deacon and Rev. M. G. Mullins as subdeacon. The sermon was delivered by Rev. John F. Burns, and it was an eloquent discourse on the day and its significance.

The altar was beautifully decorated with flowers and hundreds of waxen candles, which shed a mellow radiance over the soft hues of the flowers, the shimmering marble and the white linen and lace altar vestments. The resplendent beauty of the altar, the chanting of the vested choir and the beautiful music of the mass made this service one of almost perfect beauty.

The music at this mass was especially fine, one of the most beautiful of the chants being that which was sung at the offertory, "Præclara Custos," an anthem written by Cardinal O'Connor, which words and music being of a charming soprano voice.

The major portion of the singing was done by the vested choir under the direction of Rev. Fr. Burns, and it was in capable hands. Rarely if ever has the choir been heard to better advantage. Especially praiseworthy was the solo of Master Francis Keefe, the possessor of a charming soprano voice.

At the close of the mass the host was placed in the monstrance and, under a canopy of white and gold and preceded by altar boys bearing censers, was borne in solemn procession through the aisles of the church, the many hundreds in the congregation falling on their knees in reverence before it.

Immediately before the blessed sacrament the altar boys and the boys of the sanctuary choir followed, two by two, in their black cassocks and white surplices, and just preceding them came the girls of the Children of Mary sodality. Francis Reilly was cross bearer at the head of the procession.

As the procession moved about the aisles of the church the choir sang "Agnus Dei." Mr. Jas. P. Donnelly took the solo in the left choir with chorus by vested choir.

The procession of the Children of Mary was arranged and directed by Rev. W. George Mullin, to whom much of its beauty of arrangement and its remarkable success are due.

Services in connection with the novena in honor of the Sacred Heart will be continued tonight, tomorrow night, Wednesday night, at 7:30 and Thursday night at 7, coming to a close on Friday. Masses on Friday, the feast of the Sacred Heart will be celebrated at 5 and 7 o'clock and it is expected that the number of communicants will be large. Friday evening, the devotion of the "Holy Hour," will take place, with special music.

In St. Paul's chapel last evening the Holy Name society held its monthly religious meeting with a splendid attendance of members. Rev. John F. Burns officiated and he spoke eloquently on the society. Its aims and laudable purpose of devotion to the blessed Sacrament was given. Following the religious meeting the society held a business session with Pres. James W. Cook presiding. Routine matters principally were discussed while preparations were made for the quarterly communion in July.

The new parochial school of the parish will be completed, it is understood, not before the summer of 1913.

Immaculate Conception
The services at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday in honor of the feast of Corpus Christi were conducted on an elaborate scale. The church looked most beautiful, the altars being decorated with flowers and lights and the interior presented a very pretty picture. At the 7:30 o'clock mass the children who recently received first communion approached the altar for the second time. The members of the Holy Name society also received holy communion. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., and communion was given by Rev. Owen McQuill, O. M. I.

At 8 o'clock solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Lawrence Tighe, O. M. I., pastor, who was assisted by Rev. Owen McQuill, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Bro. Robert McCoy, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. During the mass the blessed sacrament was exposed. The choir, under the direction of Joseph P. Courtney, sang Blaise's mass. At the offertory, Miss Nellie Donahue sang "O Salutaris," Mrs. Hugh Walker presided at the organ.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening the services were most impressive as the annual procession in honor of the feast was held and one of the largest crowds that ever viewed the ceremonies was present. In the parade were the children who recently received their first communion, the members of the Children of Mary and the Immaculate Conception sodalities and other church societies. The girls in the line wore white dresses and veils and the boys were attired in dark suits. The procession marched from the church to the beautiful "Pange Lingua." After circling the grounds the line moved to

TWO MORE BATTLESHIPS ARE ON THE WAY TO CUBA REPORT OF RACIAL WAR DENIED

WASHINGTON, June 10.—American marines were expected to be available for service in Havana before noon today. The cruiser Washington and the battleship Rhode Island, which steamed out from Key West early this morning under orders sent from Washington late last night were expected to make the run across the straits of Florida to the Cuban capital in about six hours. Each of these ships in addition to her regular complement of 65 marines carries an extra complement of 123, including officers. They would only be landed in the Cuban capital of course in a case of dire emergency, in which event the blue-jackets of both ships also would be available.

The gravity with which this government regards the situation is indicated by the fact that Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commander of the Atlantic fleet, is aboard his flagship, the Washington, to observe conditions in Havana at first hand. The remainder of the third division of the fleet remains at Key West and can join the flagship in a few hours.

The mine planter San Francisco leaves Annapolis today with a complement of midshipmen aboard and will join the ships at Key West. The first division of the Atlantic fleet, the Massachusetts, Utah, North Dakota, Florida and Delaware, also leave Annapolis today with midshipmen aboard. While their destination is now Cape Cod there is no assurance that the navy department may not order these ships to join those near Cuba at any moment.

Speaker Ferreri of the Cuban house of representatives, one of the first lieutenants of Pres. Gomez will have a conference today with Secretary Knox at which the situation will be thoroughly canvassed. The speaker is non-communative about his mission.

TWO BATTLESHIPS LEFT TODAY FOR TRIP TO CUBA

KEY WEST, Fla., June 10.—The battleship Rhode Island and the cruiser Washington left here this morning presumably for Havana. They were under sealed orders. Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, commander of the third division of the Atlantic fleet was on board the Washington, his flagship.

U. S. MARINES REPUDED INSURGENTS WHO MADE AN ATTACK ON THEM

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 10.—A company of United States marines commanded by Captain Edward Mainwaring engaged in guarding electrical mines was attacked at one o'clock this morning by a force of insurgents who were repulsed after considerable firing. There were no casualties among the marines and the loss of the insurgents is unknown.

SUES FOR $50,000 FOR PERSONAL INJURIES

Trial of Case Begun in Superior Court

The case of Gertrude C. Killpatrick, administratrix of the estate of late J. C. W. Killpatrick, against Charles E. Cotter and Philip Dexter, trustees of the Tremont building in Boston, an action of tort, in which the plaintiff seeks to recover $50,000, was opened before Judge Stevens in the civil session of the superior court at the conclusion of the Stearns-Long case this morning.

It is alleged that while the deceased was leaving the sixth floor of the Tremont building in Boston he stepped into one of the elevators and before he had entered the car the boy who was operating the elevator closed the door and started the machine with the result that Mr. Killpatrick's left leg was caught between the door and sash and when the steel hood of the elevator descended it pinned the man. The elevator was stopped and sent back to the sixth floor and Mr. Killpatrick was removed to a hospital. It is alleged that the accident took place on Sept. 23, 1910, and on the 11th of November of the same year the man died. The plaintiff in the case was appointed administratrix on Dec. 14th.

THE DEFENDANT WON In Case of Stearns vs. Long

The jury in the case of Frank K. Stearns vs. Dennis A. Long reported a verdict for the defendant just before 1 o'clock this afternoon. The judge charged the jury this morning, instructing them in the law of libel and explaining the difference between slander which is oral and libel which is written. The jury was out about two hours.

THE LOCAL ELKS TO HOLD FLAG DAY EXERCISES NEXT FRIDAY

By an edict recently issued by the grand lodge of Elks it was made compulsory for every lodge in the United States to hold flag day exercises and this is the first year for the rule to be put in practice. The arrangements for the exercises to be conducted by the Lowell lodge in the Lowell Opera House on Friday evening are completed and a grand program will be given. There are no tickets to the exercises and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Solon W. Stevens will be the principal speaker and he will deliver a patriotic address. Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan will render the Elks' tribute to the flag. Herbert C. Webster will give the record of the flag. Soprano selections will be given by Miss Ella Thompson and James H. Donnelly will entertain with several selections. TAFT AND ROOSEVELT MEN ENGAGED IN BITTER FIGHT

Hearing of Contest in Fourth Californian District Postponed—Indiana Cases Taken Up

CHICAGO, June 10.—Postponement of the hearing of the contest in the fourth California district this morning brought to high intensity the heated conflict between the Taft and Roosevelt factions in the republican national committee. The vote of 38 to 13 by which the postponement was effected on motion of Senator Crane of Massachusetts drew beyond any possible doubt the lines between the factions. The negative votes were those of Knight, California, Borah, Idaho, Burman, Kentucky, Wight, Louisiana, Kellogg, Minnesota, Littauer (for Flannigan of Nevada), Ward, New York, Capers, South Carolina, Thorson, South Dakota, Loose, Utah, Rogers, Wisconsin, Lyons, Texas, and McCoy of the Philippines. The committee then took up the case of the four delegates at large from Indiana. It was expected that the Indiana cases and perhaps those from Kentucky will be finished today.

SHOT HIMSELF IN MOUTH MAN WAS FATALY INJURED

He Had Been Drinking Hard for Several Weeks—He Was Dead When Doctor Arrived

Mr. Ludger Lavergne, a well known sewing machine agent for years in the employ of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. fatally shot himself this afternoon, at his home, 525 Lakeview avenue. Deceased was 55 years of age and had been drinking hard for the past two weeks and was on the point of delirium tremens. He arrived at his home at about 2 o'clock this afternoon and after exchanging a few words with his wife, he went into his son's room and came out a few minutes later. His wife paid no more attention to him as she thought he had gone to bed. Suddenly she heard the report of a pistol shot and turning around saw him drop to the floor. The ambulance was summoned, but when it arrived the physician found that the man was dead. Inspectors Laflamme and Walsh were soon on the scene and they summoned Medical Examiner J. V. Neigs. The body was later removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Amodeo Archambault. Deceased is survived by a wife, two sons, C. Ludger and Arthur and also a daughter, Eva.

RELIGION AND HIGH COST OF LIVING CHILDREN'S DAY OBSERVED

Rev. Charles T. Billings
Preached at First Unitarian Church

At the First Unitarian church Sunday morning (Rev. Charles T. Billings preached on "Religion and the High Cost of Living." He said in part:

"And having found one pearl of great price, he went and sold all that he had, and bought it."

Every demand of our daily life is a reminder of the world-wide high cost of living. Many like to refer it to a single cause, as the tariff, the increased supply of gold, or the cost of production. But here are many causes.

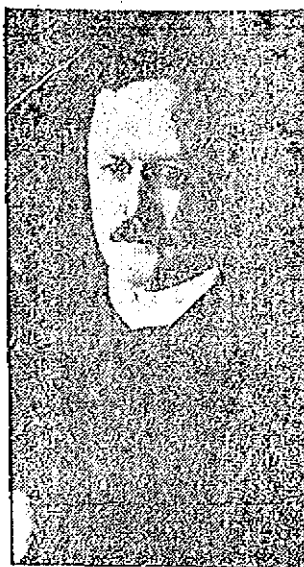

"One of the chief remedies may be found in religion, but the same causes that have been at work to make the cost of living high have been working in religion. No system of protection exists, but religion has an increased supply of its gold; there is more love, more sacrifice, more public spirit than there used to be. The cost of production in religion has increased also. No longer is the learning of catechism or acceptance of creed sufficient. Religion today means larger sympathies, higher loyalty to truth, the love of God and man. It demands a man's whole life."

The cost of religion, therefore, has risen in the last few years, but Jesus in the text estimated it at a value similar to that we put on it. Only we are conscious that men are not buying that price now. Some believe heaven may be had for the asking, but heaven is only heaven, as it leads you upward. The price of religion rises with every step forward. The higher we go, the larger are our responsibilities, and every man finds religion asks of him what it asked of Christ—his whole life."

"Religion costs. This is as true of society as of the individual. It is easiest to let things go. For to reform conditions requires time, sacrifice and money. That is why country work appeals to you so urgently. We could do so much more if we had more means."

"But men are unwilling to pay the price. They seek the short cut. No man does a mean thing—or a lower when he knew a higher was possible, but what he declares his unwillingness to pay is the price religion demands. The world also declines to pay the price. It neglects to change unsanitary conditions. Then the plague comes, and the city has to pay a greater price than it need. Evil always costs more than the good."

"That is where religion and the high cost of living really meet. For not only tariff and gold supply and cost of production affect it, but waste, extravagance, civic corruption, dishonesty and criminals who live at the expenditure of the state, increase it. And here religion would decrease it, for it demands simpler living, a wider spirit of honesty, a keener outlook for the welfare of society. It demands a just tariff, goods honestly and carefully made and not merely made to sell, and a combination of true economy with the highest efficiency. Religion will do much to reduce the cost of living."

"The tragedy of life is when we find we have paid too much for things worthless; when we have paid the cost, and yet have no pearl of great price; when we have wasted our lives or opportunities. Those who have bought the pearl know its value. They may have missed much that the world prizes, but they have been strong points and they have known that the pearl was worth all the life they have paid for it."

"The cost of religion is high, but it is worth far more than it costs—as Christ and the brave souls of history will testify. For what are mortal talk or gales, or losses, compared with immortal power and beauty?"

"The pearl of great price is to be won by the community as well as the individual, and the community needs to put forth its best powers to attain it. We must not wait for disaster to warn us of our neglect. Prevention is better than a cure, and all we can do now to arouse the deeper religious spirit is a safeguard and a help."

"For that spirit will in large measure reduce the cost of living. It is of the highest value. It is the pearl of great price. Wise are we, if we give our all to get it."

THEATRES IN PARIS TOOK IN $11,000,000

The Season of 1911 Was
 Great Success

PARIS, June 10.—A good idea of the increasing amount of money that is spent in theatre-going in Paris is obtainable from figures just published, giving the receipts of the different theatres of amusement. The gross receipts of all, which amounted in 1850 to $1,700,000, had reached over $11,000,000 in 1911. The last few years show steady rise of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 a year. This is largely attributed to the opening of cinematograph shows, and to the increased popularity of the summer and winter music halls, concerts and cafe concerts. The great national theatres, like the Comedie Francaise, the Opera and the Grand Theatre, have also shown an increase in revenue, and the leading boulevard theatres have held their own with handsome door receipts.

On the receipts of every theatre in Paris the city levies a tax for the poor, this money being distributed by the society known as the Assistance Publique. The poor have benefited considerably from the increase of revenue. In 1850 they obtained only $185,000, but in 1911 their benefits had jumped to $1,275,000.

Harvard Foundation
 The inauguration of the official Harvard Foundation, calling for an additional exchange of professors between Harvard University and the various French universities, marks an important forward step in what might be called the institution of a "foreign policy" for the universities of France. The ministry of public instruction has opened a special feature department devoted to finding out what France may offer to the foreigner who desires to study in France, and to the practical establishment of French instruction abroad. There are 5,560 foreign students today in French institutions of learning, and the courses of study of the universities at Rennes, Dijon and Lille have been arranged to suit the needs of the foreign students.

At Tours a special summer course is to be arranged, and at the girls' college there a special department will be opened for young women from abroad similar to that which exists already at the school at Versailles.

The other development is in the propagation abroad of French university influence. French professors and teachers have been placed in large numbers in various European colleges, including Leipzig, Budapest, St. Petersburg, and recently a professor was sent to the Normal college of New York.

This "foreign policy" of the French universities is also made possible by such organizations as the Alliance Francaise, the Franco-American committee, the French Institute of the United States, and of course by the new relations between Harvard and the French universities. Other countries in which the French influence is spreading are Roumania, Serbia, Norway, Sweden and Chile.

The new Harvard Foundation signifies a movement to create even stronger bonds of sympathy between the United States and France. It is planned to send French students to the United States and the creation of a French museum at Harvard is a project of the near future.

An Interesting Figure
 By the recent death of Madame Edouard Andre there passes one of the most interesting figures in the brilliant French society of the Second Empire. As Mile. Nelly Jacquemart she won fame as a portrait painter, carrying all before her at the Salons in 1868, 1869, 1870, and at the Universal Exposition of 1875. Among her best known works are portraits of Marshal Canrobert, President Thiers, General Palikao, Count de Chambrai, Duke Decazes, Baron G. de Montesquieu, Count de

Saint-Amand and of a host of celebrities of the period.

After her marriage to the financier Edouard Andre, she ceased exhibiting at the Salon and devoted herself to completing her collection, which she made one of the finest in Paris, comprising antiquities, bronzes, sculptures, ivories of the original period, Limoges enamels, Hispano-Moorish lustre, ware, Italian fayence, middle-age and renaissance furniture, and a very choice gallery of paintings, including excellent examples of Rembrandt, Rubens, Van Dyck, Jordans, Watteau, Fragonard, Greuze and many others.

Madame Andre has left her Paris mansion in the Boulevard Haussmann, her country seat, the Chateau de Chailly, and her personal fortune amounting to over $3,000,000 to the Institute of France. By the terms of her will $1,000,000 is to be devoted to the upkeep of the Boulevard Haussmann mansion and the art treasures contained in it. Another million is to be applied to the upkeep of the Chateau de Chailly. Finally $400,000 is to be distributed by the institute in accordance with certain private bequests. The remaining $800,000 is to be devoted to whatever purposes the institute shall deem fit.

LOWELL MAN
 KILLED IN RAILROAD ACCIDENT
 AT BARBERTON, OHIO
 Supt. Richmond Welch of the police department is in receipt of a letter from Chief H. E. Ely of the police department of Barberton, Ohio, asking the local officials to attempt to locate the whereabouts of the parents of one Joseph Murray or Joseph Murphy, who was killed on the railroad at that place on June 1. According to the statement of a companion of the dead man, who suffered only slight injuries, Murray or Murphy had parents in Lowell who are well off. The message further states that the body was buried on June 6, and asks what the desire of the man's relatives are. His description is that of a man about 35 years old, five feet ten inches tall; dark complexion; dark curly hair; no marks on body.

NEEDLESS RUN
 FIREMEN CALLED TO FOSTER'S
 HAY AND GRAIN BUILDING
 The members of the local fire department were given a needless run to George M. Foster's hay and grain building at the corner of Jackson and King streets yesterday forenoon. Some excited person who happened to be passing along the street saw smoke issuing from the building and immediately rushed to the nearest fire alarm box and pulled in an alarm from box 72.

When the department arrived on the scene it was found that there was no fire, the smoke having been caused by a back fire from an automobile which left the building shortly before.

MEMORIAL TO COLUMBUS UNVEILED AT WASHINGTON

100,000 Visitors Crowded Within the City—Imposing Exercises Were Held

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The United States paid homage Saturday to the discoverer of America by the unveiling of a magnificent memorial fountain erected here by congress to Christopher Columbus. One hundred thousand visitors crowded within the city, according to the estimates of committees conducting the ceremonies. Half of that number are members of the Knights of Columbus, gathered from near and far to give tribute to the patron of their order.

Imposing unveiling exercises were held late in the afternoon. President Taft spoke his praises of the man who made the United States possible. In recognition of the allegiance of Columbus to the King of Italy the Marquis Cusani Confalonieri, the Italian ambassador at Washington, was invited to unveil the memorial by releasing two huge American flags whose folds hung to the granite shaft and marble statue of Columbus surmounting the fountain.

A manly part of military splendor and civic simplicity had been planned to accompany the unveiling ceremonies. Simultaneously with the beginning of the exercises the parade formed in front of the White House, moved along the broad expanse of Pennsylvania avenue and passed the Union station, before which the memorial is erected.

Massed about President Taft on the stands surrounding the memorial were members of the cabinet and of congress, justices of the supreme court of the United States and practically the entire diplomatic corps. Monsignor Thomas Shahan, rector of the Catholic university, opened the ceremonies with an invocation. Justice Victor J. Dowling of the supreme court of New York and James T. McClary of the Columbus memorial commission made addresses, and the Italian ambassador, with a few words of tribute to his illustrious countryman, unveiled the monument to the view of the world.

Immediately the pile of granite and marble was uncovered there was a salute of 21 guns. The program was closed with the apostolic benediction of the Methodist Episcopal church, pronounced by Bishop Wilbur E. Thirkield, president of Howard university.

CORNERSTONE LAID OF GERMANIC MUSEUM

New Building for Harvard University

CAMBRIDGE, June 10.—The cornerstone of the new Germanic museum at Harvard university was laid with impressive ceremonies Saturday afternoon in the presence of Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, the German ambassador; Andrew D. White, former ambassador of the United States to Germany, and a host of educators.

The exercises were in charge of Prof. Kuno Francke, curator of the museum. Count von Bernstorff made an address in German.

A feature of the exercises was the reading by Hugo Reisinger of an address written by Adolphus Busch of St. Louis, whose donation of $250,000 forms the greater part of the total amount subscribed to the building fund.

The plans for the museum, which will cost, when completed, about $500,000, are considered by architects to

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION WILL BE HELD IN BIG ARMORY

The Building Itself Cost $450,- 000—Arrangements Made in the Hall

BALTIMORE, June 10.—The democratic candidate for president of the United States will be nominated in a huge national guard armory situated in the residence portion of Baltimore. When this city sent its representatives before the democratic national committee to bring the national convention here the possession of an ideal convention hall was one of the strongest advantages Baltimore had to offer. Since that time, at the expense of many thousand dollars the hall has been made to answer every requirement of the delegates who assemble here on June 25 and the throngs that gather to watch their deliberations.

The democratic national convention will meet in the fifth regiment armory, which occupies nearly a whole city square in the Mount Royal district, fronting on Hoffman street, and bounded by Preston street in the rear. At the two ends of the block are Park and Linden avenues, both of which carry trolley lines connecting with the business centre. Two squares distant is the main station of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and only a little further, barely five minutes walk, is the Union station, where passengers arrive on the other railroads entering the city. Close at hand, within easy walking distance, is the city's largest hotel.

Cost $450,000

When the state spent $450,000 for this drill hall to house Baltimore's famous regiment, the "Dandy Fifth," big conventions were in mind and the building was situated and designed with reference to affording such accommodations. Exterior embellishment was a secondary consideration. The fifth regiment armory is surrounded by massive walls of granite, two stories high, from which rise twelve steel trusses that carry the arched roof to a height of 85 feet. It is lighted by windows in the side walls and by a sky-light that runs the whole length of the apex of the roof. From the outside the appearance of the structure is not particularly impressive, probably because the principal dimensions are lateral, and too extensive for the eye to appreciate unless the beholder could look down on the building from an elevation. The armory extends 264 feet in width on Hoffman and Preston streets and is 284 feet deep. The great drill hall inside, where the convention will assemble, is 300x200 feet.

To adapt this building further to convention purposes the state appropriated $35,000. The greater part of this sum has been spent to increase the seating capacity by putting in temporary balconies at the two ends of the drill hall. Decorations, which include the construction of a false ceiling to improve the acoustic properties, cost $7,000. Several thousand dollars has been spent in the construction of the speakers' platform, on seats, and on remodeling the military company quarters at the sides and ends of the building for use as committee rooms.

40,000 Yards of Bunting

As one enters the hall through the main gateway on Hoffman street the eye first is impressed by the magnificent distance and the seemingly endless vista of seats. Under the hands of the decorators the place has lost its military, utilitarian look, transformed by the more than 40,000 yards of bunting that hides the roof beams, drapes the walls and covers practically every foot of the interior except the windows and floor spaces. The background is a soft effect of cream, gold and white, which makes an effective setting for the national colors displayed in countless arrangements, and the insight and colors of the various states.

The seating arrangements here are the result of long study on the architect's part, aided by the practical experience of men versed in the practical problems of great conventions. This hall will seat comfortably more than 15,000 persons, and those in charge of its preparation believe they have worked out their problem so that every member of this great audience can command a view of the speakers' stand and understand what is being said. To bring this about the location of the speaker's platform was the matter of first importance.

Speakers' Rostrum

In the Baltimore hall the speakers will stand well out toward the middle of the auditorium, directly opposite the main central entrance, midway between the ends of the hall and about 66 feet, or more than one-third the distance, from the rear wall of the interior. This rostrum, the heart of the convention hall, is not large enough to permit much pacing about on the orator's part. It measures about 15 feet long by ten feet deep. It is elevated six feet above the main floor.

Back of the rostrum, two feet above it and communicating by steps, is another platform of the same size for the use of the secretaries of the convention. Back of this are 600 seats, backed at the rear to a height of 14 feet, which are reserved for the officers of the national organization. Grouped about the speakers' platform, at both sides and in front, are 435 seats for the press. These communicate through passageways under the banked-up seats behind with the company rooms outside the drill hall which have been fitted up for the use of the newspapers and telephone companies. From these offices, within sound of the speaker's voice and of the secretary as he announces the results of each ballot, run wires that will carry the news of the convention to the world.

In front of the platform, separated only by the narrow row of press seats and an aisle, are the places for the delegates who come to Baltimore to register the presidential choice of the party in the various states and territories of the union. Although the number of votes these states and territories may cast aggregates 104, the architects have provided seats for 1200 delegates because some of the states, Maryland among them, send to Baltimore twice as many delegates as they have votes, each delegate being the custodian of half a vote. Back of the delegates sit an equal number of alternates, and thence 2400 seats occupy the center of the floor between the platform and the entrance. These four blocks of seats will hold much of the life and motion of the convention. The location of the representatives of each state will be shown by an elevated sign.

76 Sections of Seats

For convenience in handling the crowds, the convention hall seats have been divided into 76 sections, of which 49 are on the floor and the rest in the balconies. The floor will seat 10,661 and the balconies 4,408. Deducting the seats on the floor reserved for officials, delegates and alternates and the press leaves 7,220 for the public. These with the balconies make room for 11,629 seats for the accommodation of Baltimoreans and visitors who are expected by the ten-thousands from all parts of the country.

The public seats on the main floor occupy the two ends of the hall and run at right angles to the delegates' seats, so that when a speaker on the rostrum is facing the delegates the greater part of the audience will get side views of him. The great balconies that have been added temporarily to the armory project from the ends and overhang nearly half these end seats on the floor. These two balconies are 200 feet long by 50 feet deep. At the front and back of the hall the narrow permanent balconies have been equipped with three rows of seats that will accommodate between four and five hundred. The balconies are 12 feet above the ground floor in front and securely supported by beams of wood and steel. The two at the ends of the hall are banked so that the view from the rear seats will be unobstructed.

To facilitate quick emptying of the building, 13 new doors have been cut in the granite walls, making a total of 18. Twelve of these are for the use of those who hold tickets to the balconies, and enable the balconies to connect directly with the street. The extra doors on the ground floor are for use mainly as exits, since no difficulty is anticipated in handling all who enter through the wide entrance in the front and center of the building.

Seats for the public are reserved only by sections, which are designated by numbers and letters. The larger blocks of seats are numbered and each numbered block is divided into three sub-sections, lettered respectively "A," "B," and "C." A ticketholder who finds his piece of pasteboard stamped, for instance, "35-B" will find his seat about the 132 chairs grouped under that sub-division. These subdivisions include from 42 to 217 seats each and the most desirable chairs in each division will go to the earliest comers. The convention hall band will be in a stand erected over the main entrance. Space has been given for 200 musicians. A telephone with an electric signal light connects the leaders' stand with the desk of the chairman at the opposite side of the hall, so that the latter may signal his wishes. The chairman's position is connected by telephone also with the six committee rooms, which have been fitted up in the vacated company quarters at the two ends of the building.

No Expense Spared

No expense has been spared to beautify the interior of the hall. The principal task of the remodelers was the construction of a false ceiling which would improve the acoustic properties by preventing the speakers' voices from being lost among the lofty steel trusses of the curved roof. This has been accomplished by suspending from the roof beams arched trusses of wooden framework which have been covered with bunting. The spaces between have been filled in with bunting so as to present an unbroken cloth ceiling which at a distance looks more permanent than its temporary use demanded. The ceiling is cream colored paneled with gold.

The construction of this false ceiling and the draping of the walls and girders and the installation of the daps, pictures and party slogans which make up the interior decorations occupied 14 men for more than a month and cost $7000. Thirty-four thousand yards of cream, gold and white bunting have been used and 6000 yards of red, white and blue. To save these strips of cloth together six seamstresses drove their sewing machines eight hours a day for two weeks. Three hundred feet have been used.

The balcony railings are festooned with national colors and at the base of each arch descending from the roof is the insignia of some state or territory. The speakers' stand is covered with red, white and blue, with the colors and arms of the state of Maryland banded in front. Most conspicuous of the portraits that adorn the walls are paintings of Washington and Jefferson, each eight feet square and executed especially for this purpose.

A feature of these decorations which the committee in charge is particularly proud of is that every yard of bunting used has been fire-proofed. The fire-proofing preparation was mixed with the dye and has not changed the appearance of the cloth subjected to this process. Although the cotton cloth used in its natural state is very inflammable, the fire-proofed bunting will not blaze even when thrown into the fire. The cloth will char, but only in places to which a flame is directly applied.

The use of this fire-proof bunting in a building constructed of stone, brick and steel has not, however, prevented the convention committee from taking other precautions against a possible fire. The hall is provided with an unusual number of exits, and the fact that the main floor is on a level with the outside street is regarded as another valuable factor of safety.

LOWELL WON FIRST, 7 TO 1 HAVERHILL SECOND, 5 TO 3

Largest Crowd of the Season Saw Saturday's Double Header

Lowell and Haverhill met at Spalding park Saturday afternoon in the first local double-header of the season. Added to the double bill, the fact that Eddie McGinnis, Lowell's new first baseman who was secured from Haverhill was presented a check for $50, attracted one of the largest crowds of the season to the park. In the Haverhill lineup, Bill Conney, who was traded for McGinnis, was seen and he was given a big hand when he came to the bat the first time. He has a great many friends in Lowell and last season played good ball here. During the game the wise ones were doing out the deal and comparing the work of the two principals in the trade.

The first time McGinnis stepped to the plate, William H. Sullivan, of The Sun, official scorer for the Lowell team, advanced to the plate and presented the first baseman the check for $50. He was the first man to hit the ball in the local park this season and was to have been given the check Thursday, but owing to the rain the presentation was deferred until today. When the umpire signaled to stop the game, there was a great cheer and it was some time before the applause subsided.

When given the check, McGinnis said: "While I expected the check, I never thought that I would be given such a reception. While I sincerely thank the Bull Durham company and you for the check I want to express my gratitude to the fans. They certainly have treated me finely today and I will try and be worthy of their applause." There was another outburst of enthusiasm and then the game went on.

Lowell took the first game, 7 to 1, and Haverhill captured the second, 5 to 3.

First Inning
Haverhill went to the bat and Courtney, the first man and had one at the bat, hit to Loneragan who made an overthrow to first and Courtney got first. He forgot, however, that the best fielding pitcher in the league was on the job and started for second. But the minute the ball was hit Wolfgang had started to cover first and when the ball went over of McGinnis' Wolfe, who was behind the bag, intercepted it and got Courtney between the bases and run him out. It was some fielding for a pitcher. Campbell hit to Wolfe and retired. Matthews singled to left field and looked good for a moment. Then he foolishly tried to steal second and Lavigne whipped him out by a beautiful throw.

Clemens was in no hurry and after waiting for the necessary number of batters walked leisurely to first. Magee fled out to Young. Just to show that he could move fast Clemens stole second and got away without arrest. DeGroff waved three beautiful waves and then waited himself to the bench. Bouttes hit to Barry and died at first. Score, Lowell 6, Haverhill 0.

Second Inning
Bill Conney, the ex-Lowell shortstop, was first up for the visitors and that he left many friends behind him upon leaving this burg was evidenced by the great reception tendered him as he stepped on the field line. Bill was overcome and popped a fly to McGinnis. Young hit to Loneragan and went out at first. Pratt hit to Wolfgang and died at first.

McGinnis was first up for Lowell in this inning and was given the check. After Mac had made a speech of thanks the opposing pitcher charitably allowed him to walk to first. Miller hit to a pitched ball and got on. McGinnis got too far off second and Barry by a sharp throw nailed him. Loneragan hit to Young, forcing Miller at second. Lavigne fled to Courtney. Score—Lowell 6, Haverhill 0.

Third Inning
Reynolds hit to Loneragan and was a dead one at first. Pratt was there with a single to center, but Barry hit in front of the plate and Lavigne took away of him at first. Courtney hit to Miller and was third out at first.

Lowell did something in this inning getting one hit and incidentally one run. It happened this way: Wolfgang hit to Young and died at first. Clemens again waited and walked and then Magee sacrificed and he got to second. Along comes the Griff with a happy smile on his open face. De passed a little soft talk to Barry and then cracked one of his benders for a single to center which scored Clemens. Bouttes hit to Cross and went out at first.

Fourth Inning
Campbell hit to Bouttes but Jake was there with the long throw and got him. Matthews appeared to be well acquainted with Wolfgang for he touched him for his second single. He stole second and White called him safe though no one else could see it that way. Lavigne making a fine throw. Conney popped a fly in front of the plate which Lavigne deposed in his mitt. Young hit to Wolfe and joined the long list of dead ones at first.

Nothing doing. McGinnis hit to Courtney and Bill fumbled and Mac landed the base. Miller beat out a pretty hit, sending Mac ahead. Loneragan fanned. Lavigne fled to Courtney. Wolfgang hit to Young, forcing Miller at second.

Fifth Inning
Cross fled out to Bouttes. Reynolds fled out to Miller. Pratt hit to Loneragan who made his second bad throw letting Pratt on. Barry hit a grounder to McGinnis who put him out without assistance.

Clemens got Lowell's third hit, a single to left. Magee advanced him with a sacrifice. De Groff fled out to Courtney. Bouttes hit a grounder and retired at first.

Sixth Inning
In this inning Campbell walked and then tried a delayed steal, but Wolfe had him doped right and throwing to Loneragan got him. Matthews doubled to left field, making his third hit in three times up. But he was left at the second station for Conney fled out to Clemens. In Lowell's half, the champions suddenly came to life and scored three runs. McGinnis started the fireworks with a single to right and he stole second. Barry by Pratt adding him. Miller fanned. Loneragan singled to center and Mac scored, while Loneragan went to second on the throw home. Lavigne fanned. Wolfgang singled through Barry and Loneragan scored the second run. Clemens got the crowd to its feet with a clean three sacker to right field and died at first. Magee hit to Young and died at first.

Seventh Inning
Young hit to Loneragan who fumbled making the third error for the Lowell shortstop. Cross hit to Miller forcing Young at second. Reynolds walked. Pratt fanned out. Barry hit to Loneragan forcing Reynolds at second.

Three more for the "Speed" brothers in the seventh. De Groff hit to Young and died at first. Bouttes walked and got second on a passed ball. McGinnis got a scratch hit and Jake made third. McGinnis started to steal second and on the throw Jake started off third. Campbell quickly put the ball to third getting Jake. By this time the crowd had got into left field fence which necessitated ground rules. Miller hit into the crowd and was allowed two bases only while Mac went to third. Loneragan singled and McGinnis scored. Miller getting third. Loneragan and Miller worked a double steal. Miller scoring when Campbell dropped the ball at second. Lavigne singled and Loneragan scored. Wolfgang fled out to Courtney. Score Lowell 7, Haverhill 0.

Eighth Inning
In the eighth Courtney hit to Bouttes and died at first. Campbell fanned. Matthews fled out to Magee. Clemens walked. Magee died out to Young. De Groff hit to Campbell forcing Clemens at second. Bouttes hit over the fence but it was a foul. De Groff stole second and kept going till he reached third on Pratt's bad throw. Bouttes fled out to Courtney who made a dandy running catch. Lowell 7, Haverhill 0.

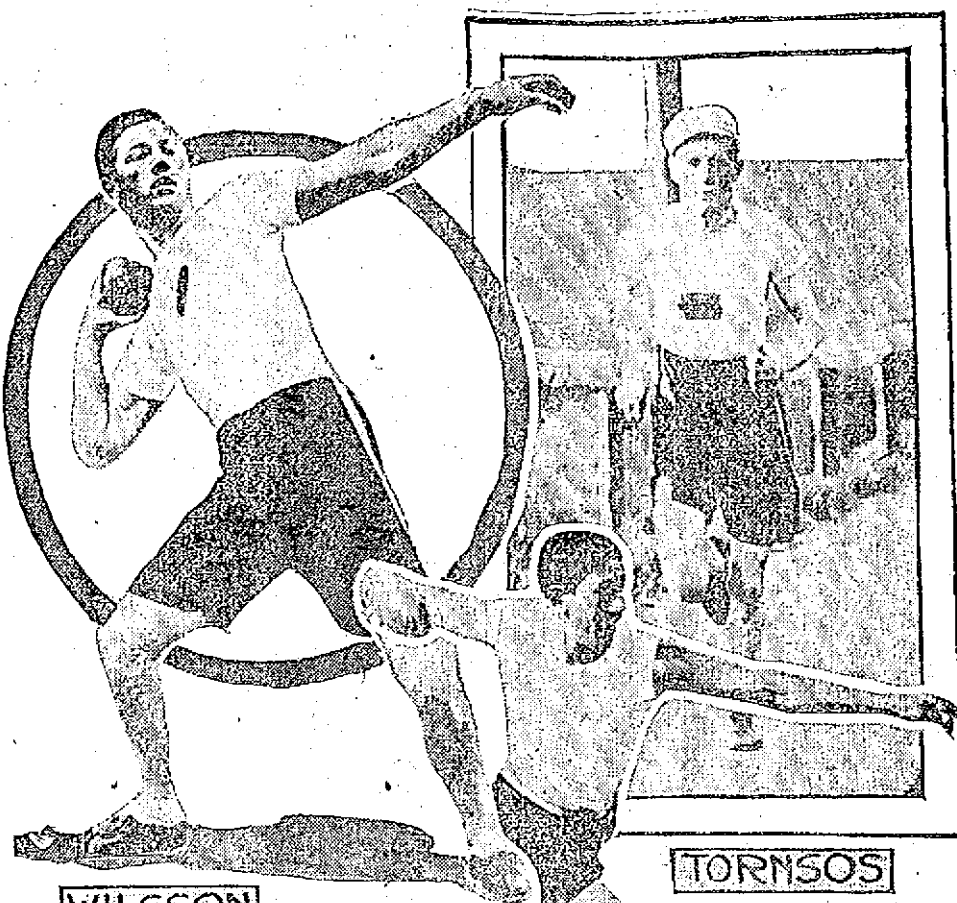

Ninth Inning
Conney hit to Bouttes who threw bad and he got on. Young singled over third sending Conney to second. Cross hit to Loneragan forcing Young at second. Conney going to third. Reynolds fouled to Lavigne. Cross made second on the catch. Pratt walked filling the bases. Kessler went to bat for Barry. Conney scored on a passed ball, and the other runners advanced. Kessler fanned.

Swedish Athletes Who Will Represent Their Country in the Olympic Games

STOCKHOLM, June 10.—With victory in the javelin throwing practically conceded to Sweden because of the prowess of Lemming in that line, Wilsson and Tornosos will try to grab off the honors for their country in the shot putting, discus throwing and distance running events. In London in 1908 Lemming won the javelin throwing contest with a mark of 175 feet 10 1/2 inches. He had previously won this event in the games held at Athens in 1906, when his throw was 175 feet 6 inches. Great things are expected at this year's games from Wilsson, who puts the shot and throws the discus equally well, and also from Tornosos, who has some splendid performances to his credit as a distance runner.

SECOND GAME
In the second game Pitcher Kessler, who came here from Lawrence, started the firing for Lowell, but after retiring two men in the second inning the Haverhill men got to him and it was back to the bench and later back to the old folks for the big Lawrence castoff. Lowell started off well and got to Kessler, who worked for the visitors, in the first inning, for three runs. After that, however, the same Kessler had Lowell at his mercy. After Clemens went out on a fly to Campbell, Magee singled and stole second. De Groff went out on a fly to Matthews. Bouttes walked. McGinnis singled to right, scoring Magee and landing Bouttes on third and going to second on the throw. Miller hit to Campbell, who booted the ball and though he recovered it quickly, Bouttes and McGinnis had counted and Miller was later put out at first.

After Courtney and Young had gone out on flies, Cross, Reynolds and Pratt singled and Kessler tripped to deep center and cleared the bases. Maybom was brought to the mound and made a wild pitch which let Kessler score. Haverhill got another in the fifth, went after Reynolds had singled, Kessler poled another three-bagger.

AMATEUR BASEBALL
A good game was played at Washington park on Saturday afternoon, when the Y. M. C. A. Independents gave the Tyngsboro team a chance to wipe out the defeat registered against them on May 18 when the Independents visited Tyngsboro, winning 3 to 1. The Independents would like to arrange games with the South Ends, Brookside, Y. M. C. A. and Shedd Park teams.

St. Anne's defeated the Fifth street team at Mountain Rock Saturday afternoon, 28 to 21.

The Ponies are without a game for the 15th. They would like to play any 19 year old team in or around the city.

In the Grammar school games, the Lincolns won from the Greens on the North common, 22 to 9; the Immaculate Conception won from the Varnums, 15 to 7, and the Moodys and the Colburns took forfeited games from the Highlands and Bartlett's. The Moodys come next with only one game lost.

Only one game was played in the Scout league, the Pawtucketville boys winning from the Highlands at Burnside street.

In the Sunday School league, the North Billerica team won from the Gorham street, 13 to 12; the St. Anne's from the Fifth street, 27 to 21; and the High Street-Pawtucketville game was 3 1/2 postponed.

Sunday the feast of the Sacred Heart will also be observed and as this is the feast of the church the ceremonies will be very elaborate.

NEW POINT RAISED CONCERNS TAXATION

Plaintiff Says She Was Doubly Taxed and Enters Suit Against City

A rather interesting case having to do with foreign corporation taxation in which the city of Lowell will be the defendant will be tried either at the present or the next session of the superior court. The plaintiff in the case will be Mary A. Lamson, who claims that she has been doubly taxed. The American Mason Safety Tread company is a foreign corporation with all its property located in the city of Lowell and the city levies an assessment on the real estate, machinery, stock in trade, etc. The city also levies an assessment on the holder of the stock, claiming that it is foreign securities and taxable in Massachusetts. The plaintiff claims that this constitutes double taxation inasmuch as the city gets in the first instance the whole tax on the corporation, and hence the plaintiff claims, it is illegal to the holder of stock in the corporation from which the city of Lowell has already taken a tax.

The city claims that the corporation in question being a foreign corporation it is immaterial for the purpose of assessment against the holder of stock in that corporation where the corporation is located, so long as it is not incorporated under Massachusetts law. The property of the American Mason Safety Tread Co., according to books of the assessors of taxes, was valued at $18,000, and the tax thereon was $104.11. Mary A. Lamson's personal assessment for 1911, as taken from the assessor's books, was $30,000 and the amount of her taxes was $245.00.

The New Blues

this season have pushed the grays for first place— Blues always were summery colors anyway—and we've a wider range of blue effects than in any past season—blues with brown, blues with white or gold or light blue pencil stripes—blues in fancy weaves of worsted—and blue mixtures in soft faced wool materials. Just as good a supply of grays, tans and browns, however, for those who prefer these—entertaining 45 minutes. Miss Grace Hawthorne, producer and leading vocalist of the company, will be heard in some of her latest successes, and Jas. Byrnes, Jr. will also appear in some of his best hits of comedy and song. The other members of the cast, including Miss Helen Nichols, Miss Frankie Wood, Miss Lawless, Miss Barry, Miss Gillette, George Lewis and the others will also be seen to advantage. Howard Rolf, soloist and change artist, and Eddie Foley, a character comedian and novelty entertainer, are others who will contribute their share in the success of the program. Miss Alice Bagley, vocalist, will be heard in some of her latest and best hits. The photo-plays for the first three days of the week will include some of the brightest and best produced by the big manufacturers of picture films. "Mystery of Room 23," "The Drummer Girl From Vicksburg," "An El Home Ranch," and others will be shown here for the first time. The views of present-day events will also be interesting. A pleasant and enjoyable feature in connection with all performances will be the comfortable temperature maintained at all times. Through the use of the numerous electric fans, many exits and a special system of ventilation, it is possible to keep the temperature at a low figure during the summer months. This theatre is the original "coolest spot in town."

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

One place at the big bill offered for the first three days of this week and you are going to witness a performance. Manager Stevens has made a ten strike in securing Spica's Royal Venetian band of 20 pieces as the headline attraction this week. This celebrated organization which is touring America with great success is considered one of the finest concert bands before the public. It gives classical and popular music. The three Sherry Sisters, not the Cherry Sisters, make no mistake, are class singers and cabaret dancers. They wear sumptuous gowns and are of the order of the Melody Lane Girls with the exception that they can dance. The Three Es-carnados present a popular European tramline act so-called something new in this country and of a neck-breaking but graceful acrobatic order. Jerome and Lewis the Komical Kolorad Couple are a song and dance bill. Harry Hooker and company present a funny Irish farce entitled "The Walking Deaf-mute" which is an assured scream. Four excellent reels of motion pictures will be given in addition to this strong vaudeville bill, including "The High Cost of Living," the latest hit of the Edison films. The Keith cooling plant is now in full operation and it matters not how warm the weather may be the temperature of the interior of the theatre is delightfully cool.

CIRCUS TIME

CIRCUS TOMORROW BARNUM AND BAILEY Biggest Show on Earth at the Fair Grounds.

What is a dit-dik and why? Goodness only knows, but you'll see one, and perhaps more, if you watch the Barnum & Bailey circus parade tomorrow morning, which from all signs is certainly going to be some parade. Almost three miles of parade are promised—three miles of scintillating, iridescent, gorgeous, glittering, glamorous, awe-inspiring, traffic disturbing cavalcade, interspersed with elephants, bands, camels, wombats, steam calliops and a little of everything else under the sun, stretched out in such a long review that the weary van-guard will almost have returned to the show grounds before the tail end has even started. Notice that "almost," please. The mind when turned circusward runs to superlative and one's imagination is inclined to be unruly. Quite pardonable, this, when one is told of the wonders to come—elephants, bee-you-ti-ful women, bee-you-ti-fuler horses, open dens of wild beasts, ornate floats and caravans of camels. Oh, those camels! They look as if they had been made of the remnants of creation. One can readily understand how the yokel, on seeing his first camel, stood awe-struck in front of the beast murmuring to himself: No, no; there ain't no such 'critter.' Then there will be the splendid horses, the pride of the circus. There will be 12, and where conditions allow, 24 of these splendid fellows drawing the leading band chariot, and the man who finds two reins perplexing when he takes his girl out for a lively stable ride on Sunday, can look with wonder at the nonchalant charioteer who pilots this remarkable "hitch." Add to the horses and animals the more than 1000 people in the moving column, all of them in spic and span wardrobe, and one begins to have a skin-milk idea of the treat in store. There may be carling souls who will affect to see tawdriness behind the tinsel. Let 'em stay away! There will be enough people without them to fill the streets to suffocation, and fill the hearts of the traffic policeman with anguish. The circus, itself, is promised to be the very last word in excellence, and the circus folks say the dictionary would be torn into shreds in even a feeble effort to do it justice. For the greater part the program is new and presents features never before seen. The show opens with a magnificent spectacle entitled "Cleopatra," a world-less play depicting Cleopatra's meeting with Antony—the great historical meeting which has been sung in poetry and

Painted on canvas by the most talented masters. The story is told with an immense cast of over 1000 persons and a large ballet. Costumes, properties and trappings are in keeping with the period involved and the music was especially arranged for this production, far and away, the most elaborate ever attempted under canvas. The arena program embraces the foremost experts in their respective lines of endeavor. Chief among the absolutely new features are the Mikado's royal troupe of athletes comprising champion wrestlers and experts in jiu-jitsu—May Wirth, the marvelous young Australian girl who is concededly the greatest rider of the times, if not of all time; the Silvas, Portuguese acrobats—the Bentos—the Berns brothers, Switzerland's strongest men—Kate Sandwina, the female Hercules, and many other names representing the very aristocracy of the circus world. The trained animal numbers are in great variety and of surpassing interest. Of clowns there are over two score, and they furnish all kinds of nonsense. The menagerie is more than ever varied and comprehensive and presents as an unusual feature a baby giraffe born last January. At night the cages are lit by electricity as is the "big top." The performances are at 2 and 8 o'clock, doors being opened at 1 and 7 o'clock. All day tomorrow tickets may be purchased at Hall & Lyons drug store, at exactly the same prices charged at the show grounds. The parade will be over the usual route from the Fair Grounds and will be three miles long. Safety, health and comfort all argue for the divided skirt and astride riding. If American horsemen will listen to Miss May Wirth, the Australian girl, whose feats of equestrianism are a sensational feature with the Barnum & Bailey circus. Miss Wirth literally "grew up" on horseback, and in condemning the side-saddle she speaks with the authority of experience and close, technical observation.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding was solemnized this morning when Mr. Maxime Paquette, the well known wood dealer of West Centralville and Miss Marie More Simoneau, a popular young woman of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 8 o'clock at St. Louis' church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. R. A. Fortier. The choir of the Children of Mary sodality rendered appropriate hymns during the mass. The young couple were attended by Mr. Conrad Paquette and Miss Amelia Caza as best man and bridesmaid, respectively. After the ceremony the happy couple retired to the home of the bridegroom's mother, 754 Aiken street, where a dainty breakfast was served. This evening a reception will be held at the same address. Mr. and Mrs. Paquette who were the recipients of many costly gifts will leave tomorrow for their wedding tour across the states of Maine and New Hampshire. They will return in 10 days and will make their home at 754 Aiken street.

LORRAIN-DEMERS

The wedding of Mr. Jean Baptiste L. Lorrain and Miss Louise Emma Demers was solemnized this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at 8 o'clock at Notre Dame de Lourdes church. Rev. Leon Lamotte, O. M. I. officiating. The happy couple were attended by Mr. Joseph Lorrain and Miss Helene Demers. After the mass a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 35 Puffer street.

THE BIG CIRCUS

WILL UNLOAD AT MEADOWCROFT STREET TOMORROW

Barnum & Bailey's greatest show on earth is playing in Fitchburg today and it is expected that it will arrive in this city very early tomorrow morning. The people who get up and enjoy the arrival of the elephants and the other animals do not want to go to Western avenue tomorrow for if they do there will be no scenery. The circus will unload on Meadowcroft street just in the rear of the fair grounds. The railroad company had a crew of men working in that vicinity yesterday and today and everything is in readiness for taking care of the show.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Of the many good things scheduled in this week's bill at the Merrimack Square theatre, none should prove more enjoyable than the offering by The Temple Players, entitled "In Japan." The act is a new and original creation that has scored one of the biggest hits of these popular players in the other cities where they have appeared and should win merited recognition with local theatregoers. It is a spectacular combination of artistic features, bright song-hits and dances that make up an

THE SCHOOL GRADUATIONS

The season of school graduations is upon us, and soon the graduates will be leaving school, most of them to seek employment in the factories of the city.

We do not believe there is much danger of any attempt to make the graduation at the High school so dressy that it will be embarrassing to any of the graduates. The aim should be to avoid anything like display in dress. It is in bad taste, unnecessary and unfair to those whose parents cannot afford the expense.

Those who pass on to higher schools or to college can put off for a time the consideration of the all important problem of selecting a vocation. Nothing will so help in this as a course in manual training which reveals to the pupils the power and dignity of labor and prevents them from looking with scorn upon any occupation in which manual labor is required. Some fifteen years ago the graduates of the High school went out into the world with the idea that they were altogether too nice to engage in any kind of business in which they would have to use their hands. As a result they wasted the best years of their lives looking for a genteel job. Some of them became confirmed loafers, and others accepted some menial position in a store or factory, in many cases serving as clerks for men who never entered the High school, but who were not afraid of work and who attained success where the graduates of the High school would starve.

Times have changed since then, and vocational training in one form or another is receiving due attention. Its greatest value lies in the assistance it offers the boy in finding out for himself just for what calling or occupation he is best adapted. It is remarkable what an erroneous idea the average boy has of his own ability and his adaptability to this or that kind of work.

Every boy has certain talents, the proper development of which will enable him to win success, but it takes time, study, application and perseverance to attain excellence in any calling. Therefore it is necessary for a graduate first to select a calling for which he has some aptitude, and then to use all his efforts to excel. This requires concentration of effort, perseverance and will power. The boy who keeps shifting from one thing to another can never succeed in anything because nowadays with so much competition in every line no man can win real success without concentrating his efforts on some particular line of work and climbing with all his might towards the top where we are told there is never any crowding.

THE SALISBURY BEACH CONUNDRUM

No law passed by the legislature for a long time is so much of a conundrum as that which refers to Salisbury beach. The object of the law is to make the beach a state reservation, and yet it is not the state but the cities and towns of the Merrimack valley that will have to bear the expense. There will be an income from the sale and leasing of land; but should this not be sufficient to pay the expenses incurred by the commission the Merrimack valley district will have to meet the deficit. Little is known as to what amount will have to be paid for taking over the beach, but it is likely that the sum will be quite large. The present owners will have to get their money back and considerably more we surmise, while in addition there will probably be tedious and expensive litigation. All in all it is hard to predict who will be benefited by this law. At one of the hearings Mr. Coulson told a committee of the legislature that in case the law should pass and the property be seized by the state, the commissioners would have to pay the present owners, not the lessees, for the buildings as well as the land. Some of the cottagers have purchased the lots, others hold them under lease, while some others whose leases expired cannot purchase and find that they cannot sell the houses which thus revert to the owners of the land.

THE BOSTON CAR STRIKE

The Boston car strike is an outrage to the community for which the company is quite as much responsible as the strikers. General Bancroft's boast that he would spend a million dollars rather than recognize the union, showed first an unfriendly spirit, and second that the company had plenty of money to spend in fighting labor but none to meet the demands of labor. That was the worst tactical blunder that any man at the head of a great railroad system could possibly make. It was a challenge to the unions, the agitators and the "direct action" men the country over. The promptness with which this challenge was accepted showed what a boomerang this statement proved to be. General Bancroft, we surmise, will have to modify his temper before he can restore peace with his men and resume operations under a new wage schedule dictated by the unions whether recognized or not. Meanwhile the much abused public will have to suffer.

General Bancroft's million dollars will not go very far in meeting the expense of a great railroad strike; but if the expense to the general public be computed as well as the loss to the company, the cost will be enormous.

PENSIONS FOR TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company has adopted a very liberal pension system for its employees. It will apply to employees who have been in the service of the company over twenty years and aims at rewarding faithful service. While the corporation is thus aiding its faithful employees it is also adding to the efficiency of the service and setting an example worthy of emulation by other corporations.

The opposition to the bill now before the legislature to give the municipal board permission to borrow $300,000 outside the debt limit is taking a political aspect. The aim of some of the opponents is to discredit the municipal council and even the new charter. The temporary loan should be disposed of in the most reasonable way this year so that it will be no longer the nightmare of our city government.

It is true that a great many automobile accidents are due to skidding of the wheels on soft or wet ground, and to prevent this autoists are equipping their tires with anti-skid chains. This may be an effective remedy but it is very severe on roads. Moreover it can never compensate for carelessness on the part of the chauffeur.

Meat is being largely exported from Argentina to Austria and sold at a moderate price. Why not take down the tariff bars and let some of it in here to break down the trust prices that have gone to unprecedented heights?

Grand Jury Investigation Is Likely

BARRETT ASKED TO REPLY TO QUESTIONS OF MR. DONAHUE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL SO VOTED

The hearing on the charges brought by Commissioner Andrew E. Barrett against Andrew G. Stiles, city treasurer and collector of taxes, for incapacity in office was begun in the municipal council at city hall shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon, the hearing having been postponed from 10 o'clock this forenoon.

The mayor opened the hearing by reading Commissioner Barrett's charges against Mr. Stiles. The charges were as follows:

Lowell, Mass., May 21, 1912.
To the Municipal Council, of the City of Lowell:

Pursuant to the revised laws of the commonwealth of Massachusetts and all acts in amendment thereof, I hereby prefer the following charges against Andrew G. Stiles, the duly elected city treasurer of the city of Lowell, to wit:

That he has not conformed to the obligations of his office, nor has he in any way lived up to the oath of said office as city treasurer of the city of Lowell, in that he has in no wise conserved the revenues and moneys of the general treasury fund pursuant to law; nor has he acted with that diligence and capacity in marshaling the assets of the city of Lowell. That he has not in any manner accounted for the so-called Huntington hall fund, nor the Nesmith trust fund, nor the Tyler fund, all of which, according to the expert accountant, Mr. Rex, have disappeared.

Wherefore, it seems for the best interests of the city of Lowell, and for the proper conservation of the city's funds that, said Andrew G. Stiles should be removed from the office of city treasurer of the city of Lowell. As a member of the municipal council, I therefore embody in this writing the following specific charges:

First: Andrew G. Stiles has not properly conserved the funds of the city of Lowell.
Second: That he has so conducted the office of city treasurer as to confuse and embarrass the municipal council.
Third: That certain collections which ought to have been made in favor of the city that by his neglect and indifference have become outlaid and of no benefit to the city.
Fourth: And that for some reason unknown to the municipal council he has negligently permitted certain indebtedness due the city to remain uncollected for a long period of time without any effort on his part to collect the same.

Wants Specific Charges
D. J. Donahue, counsel for Mr. Stiles.

said he had been given to understand that specific charges would be made and a copy provided counsel for defendant. He spoke of the first meeting having to do with the charges which was held June 10, and said he had been unable to obtain specific charges until Saturday afternoon, May 31. "Then," said Mr. Donahue, "I prepared a list of interrogatories and forwarded them to the city solicitor's office. I have been unable to obtain any reply to them. My interrogatories, and I assure they are very fair, were as follows:

Charges Preferred Against Andrew G. Stiles, City Treasurer of the City of Lowell.

INTERROGATORIES.

Propounded by the respondent in the above entitled charges to be answered by Andrew E. Barrett, alderman of the city of Lowell.

First Interrogatory: State, giving the date and facts, wherein respondent has not conserved the city's funds.
Second Interrogatory: State what specific act or acts, giving date and facts, that have confused and embarrassed the municipal council.

Third Interrogatory: What collections have been lost by treasurer's neglect, giving date and persons owing the same.
Fourth Interrogatory: What certain indebtedness remains uncollected, with no effort on treasurer's part to collect the same.

Andrew G. Stiles, Treasurer.
By His Attorney, D. J. Donahue.

"Jumble of Words"
Mr. Donahue called the charges against Mr. Stiles a "jumble of words" and claimed that the charges were not specific.

"I am prepared to show," said Mr. Donahue, "that the Nesmith fund was spent 42 years ago."

Referring to the second charge of Mr. Barrett's, Mr. Donahue said he would like to know who of the municipal council were "confused and embarrassed." "Surely it couldn't be Mr. Barrett," he said, "the man who brought the charges and the Messrs. who know it all."

Mr. Donahue said he would be ready to go ahead forty-eight hours after receiving answer to his interrogatories. "I ask that they be answered," he said, "in order to give me a fair opportunity to explain my case."

J. Joseph Hennessy
City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy said he was surprised at the statement of his brother, Mr. Donahue, to the effect that he did not have time to prepare his case.

"He had ten days in which to prepare and that, I think, was ample time. There is no one who can give this municipal council any more information than can the city treasurer, himself. He is the man who should know and should be able to give the information that is sought by the city council. The language in the specifications is very plain and easy of understanding. There is no reason why there should be any further delay in this matter."

Renews His Request

Mr. Donahue renewed his request for more time and charged that if it was not allowed him it would be apparent to everybody that his client was being unfairly treated.

Commissioner Barrett

Commissioner Barrett objected to any further delay and renewed his charges against the city treasurer. He said that the management of that office had been slipshod for years. Mr. Barrett took exceptions to statements made by counsel for the defendant and said it was necessary that this matter should not be delayed, for tomorrow, he said, there would be before the legislature the city's appeal to borrow beyond its debt limit.

"Does anybody in this city today believe," asked Mr. Barrett, "that if Mr. Stiles was to go before the voters for re-election he would be elected? No—because the people of Lowell are awake to conditions here and what I want to see is the city treasury of the city of Lowell rescued from improper influences, and it is up to the members of this council to do their duty or be branded as the dog in the phonograph advertisement listening to the 'master's voice'."

The mayor then put the question as to more specific answer for interrogatories number two. Alderman Barrett interrupted with the remark: "Judging from the temper of the council as a whole it will not be necessary to proceed further relative to more specific charges."

The other interrogatories, however, were acted upon and in each instance the council voted that Mr. Barrett supply answers thereto. Ald. Barrett, except in the first instance, voting yes.

Mayor O'Donnell said that the city treasurer's character and reputation were at stake and it was the duty of the municipal council to give a fair and impartial hearing. He said that the respondent should be given reasonable time in which to prepare his case.

Ald. Cummings wanted to know if the city treasurer was being held responsible for the expenditure of the Nesmith fund. "I am pretty sure," said Mr. Cummings, "that the Nesmith fund was spent long before Mr. Stiles took office."

Mr. Barrett said that his charges included the Huntington hall fund and the overruns amounting to several thousand dollars that had not been accounted for.

Mr. Donahue said that he would be ready to proceed with the hearing forty-eight hours after the receipt of the specific charges asked for and City Solicitor Hennessy said he would supply them by Wednesday. On motion of Ald. Cummings the council adjourned to Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time the hearing will be resumed. The council will hold a business meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"I want to say that if there is any truth in what he has insinuated the members of the council who voted for the official question should not be allowed to retain their seats in this chamber, and it is up to Alderman Barrett to prove his statements. It is the duty of Alderman Barrett to go to the grand jury and see that proper action is taken, and I move Mr. Mayor that the city solicitor be instructed to present Mr. Barrett's statement to the district attorney and that Mr. Barrett be summoned before the grand jury to prove his statements."

The motion was seconded, as heretofore stated, by Ald. Cummings and became a vote.

Messrs. Cummings and Donnelly, as well as Mr. Brown, took exceptions to Mr. Barrett's statement about the "auction" and the "master's voice," and said that they were not being dictated to by anybody or influenced in any way.

"No man in Lowell can tell me what to do," said Mr. Cummings, "and I am wearing no man's collar but my own."

Mr. Donnelly said he was elected by the people of Lowell and that he was doing the best he could to serve their best interests. "I am not influenced by any man or set of men," he said.

BROCKTON DEFEATED LOWELL IN A SLOW GAME TODAY

Visitors Did Some Good Batting
—New Man at Short
For Lowell

Brockton blew into town today very confident of handling Lowell a defeat, for on Saturday the Shoe City men won from Lawrence with the big league prospect, Keating, in the box and by winning the game they tied the Lawrence boys for the leadership in the league race. The last game between the Lowell and Brockton teams which was played here Friday resulted in a walk away for the Lowell boys and they were right there at the top to get the jump on the fast Brockton youngsters.

 Great Success

PARIS, June 10.—A good idea of the increasing amount of money that is spent in theatre-going in Paris is obtainable from figures just published, giving the receipts of the different places of amusement. The gross receipts of all, which amounted in 1910 to $1,700,000, had reached over $11,000,000 in 1911. The last few years show a steady rise of from $500,000 to $1,000,000, a year. This is largely attributed to the opening of cinematograph shows, and to the increased popularity of the summer and winter music halls, concerts and cafe concerts. The great national theatres, like the Comedie Francaise, the Opera and the Odeon, have also shown an increase in revenue, and the leading boulevard theatres have held their own with handsome door receipts. On the receipts of every theatre in Paris the city levies a tax for the poor, this money being distributed by the society known as the Assistance Publique. The poor have benefited considerably from the increase of revenue. In 1910 they obtained only $133,000, but in 1911 their benefits had jumped to $1,215,000.

 Harvard Foundation
 The inauguration of the official Harvard Foundation, calling for an additional exchange of professors between Harvard University and the various French universities, marks an important forward step in what might be called the institution of a "foreign policy" for the universities of France. The ministry of public instruction has opened a special feature department devoted to finding out what France may offer to the foreigner who desires to study in France, and to the practical establishment of French instruction abroad. There are 5,550 foreign students today in French institutions of learning, and the courses of study of the universities at Rennes, Dijon and Lille have been arranged to suit the needs of the foreign students.
 At Tours a special summer course is to be arranged, and at the girls' college there a special department will be opened for young women from abroad similar to that which exists already at the school at Versailles.
 The other development is in the propagation abroad of French university influence. French professors and teachers have been placed in large numbers in various European colleges, including Leipzig, Budapest, St. Petersburg, and recently a professor was sent to the Normal college of New York. This "foreign policy" of the French universities is also made possible by such organizations as the Alliance Francaise, the Franco-American committee, the French Institute of the United States, and of course by the new relations between Harvard and the French universities. Other countries in which the French influence is spreading are Roumania, Serbia, Norway, Sweden and Chile.

 The new Harvard Foundation signifies a movement to create even wider bonds of sympathy between the United States and France. It is planned to send French students to the United States and the creation of a French museum at Harvard is a project of the near future.
 An Interesting Figure
 By the recent death of Madame Edouard Andre there passes one of the most interesting figures in the brilliant French society of the Second Empire. As Mlle. Nelly Jacquemart she won fame as a portrait painter, carrying all before her at the Salons in 1868, 1869, 1870, and at the Universal Exposition of 1878. Among her best known works are portraits of Marshal Canrobert, President Thiers, General Palluau, Count de Chambun, Duke Decazes, Baron G. de Montesquiou, Count de

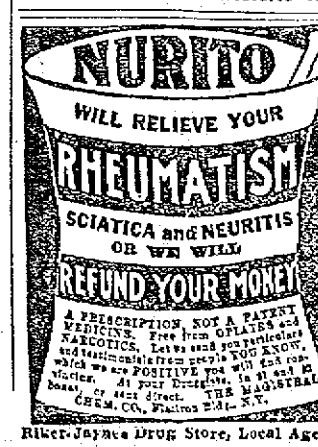

Saint-Amand and of a host of celebrities of the period.
 After her marriage to the financier Edouard Andre, she ceased exhibiting at the Salon and devoted herself to completing her collection, which she made one of the finest in Paris, comprising antiquities, bronzes, sculptures, ivories of the original period; Limoges enamels, Hispano-Moorish lustre ware.

 Madame Andre has left her Paris mansion in the Boulevard Haussmann, her country seat, the Chateau de Chaalis, and her personal fortune amounting to over $3,000,000 to the Institute of France. By the terms of her will $1,000,000 is to be devoted to the upkeep of the Boulevard Haussmann mansion and the art treasures contain in it. Another million is to be applied to the upkeep of the Chateau de Chaalis. Finally $500,000 is to be distributed by the institute in accordance with certain private bequests. The remaining $600,000 is to be devoted to whatever purposes the Institute shall deem fit.

Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department is in receipt of a letter from Chief H. E. Ely of the police department of Barberton, Ohio, asking the local officials to attempt to locate the whereabouts of the parents of one Joseph Murray or Joseph Murphy, who was killed on the railroad at that place on June 5. According to the statement of a companion of the dead man, who suffered only slight injuries, Murray or Murphy has parents in Lowell who are well off. The message further states that the body was buried on June 6, and asks what the desire of the man's relatives are. His description is that of a man about 35 years old, five feet ten inches tall; dark complexion; dark curly hair; no marks on body.

BILLERICA

The feast of Corpus Christi was observed at St. Andrew's church, North Billerica, yesterday in an appropriate manner. Masses were celebrated at 8 and 10 o'clock, and there was a large attendance at each of the services.

 A solemn high mass was celebrated at 10 o'clock, and at the conclusion of the mass a procession was held. Rev. Edmund Cornell, O. M. I., gave an interesting as well as instructive sermon on the gospel of the day at the high mass.

NEEDLESS RUN

FIREMEN CALLED TO FOSTER'S HAY AND GRAIN BUILDING
 The members of the local fire department were given a needless run to Foster's hay and grain building at the corner of Jackson and King streets yesterday forenoon. Some excited person who happened to be passing along the street saw smoke issuing from the building and immediately rushed to the nearest fire alarm box and pulled in an alarm from box 72.
 When the department arrived on the scene it was found that there was no fire, the smoke having been caused by a back fire from an automobile which left the building shortly before.

MEMORIAL TO COLUMBUS
UNVEILED AT WASHINGTON

100,000 Visitors Crowded Within the City—Imposing Exercises Were Held

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The United States paid homage Saturday to the discoverer of America by the unveiling of a magnificent memorial fountain erected here by congress to Christopher Columbus. One hundred thousand visitors crowded within the city, according to the estimates of committees conducting the ceremonies. Half of that number are members of the Knights of Columbus, gathered from near and far to give tribute to the patron of their order.

Imposing unveiling exercises were held late in the afternoon. President Taft spoke his praises of the man who made the United States possible. In recognition of the allegiance of Columbus to the king of Italy the Marquis Cusani Confalonieri, the Italian ambassador at Washington, was invited to unveil the memorial by releasing two huge American flags whose folds clinging to the granite shaft and marble statue of Columbus surmounting the fountain.

A mammoth pageant of military splendor and civic simplicity had been

CAMBRIDGE, June 10.—The cornerstone of the new Germanic museum at Harvard university was laid with impressive ceremonies Saturday afternoon in the presence of Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, the German ambassador; Andrew D. White, former ambassador of the United States to Germany, and a host of educators.

The exercises were in charge of Prof. Kuno Francke, curator of the museum. Count von Bernstorff made an address in German.

A feature of the exercises was the reading by Hugo Reisinger of an address written by Adolfus Busch of St. Louis, whose donation of $250,000 forms the greater part of the total amount subscribed to the building fund.

The plans for the museum, which will cost, when completed, about $300,000, are considered by architects to

The laying of the corner stone marked the culmination of the German-American movement, which was started at Harvard about 10 years ago, and which had for its fundamental purpose a closer relationship and affiliation between American and German universities.

Immediately the pile of granite and marble was unveiled to the view of the world.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION WILL BE HELD IN BIG ARMORY

The Building Itself Cost $450,000—Arrangements Made in the Hall

BALTIMORE, June 10.—The democratic candidate for president of the United States will be nominated in a huge, national guard armory situated in the residence portion of Baltimore. When this city sent its representatives before the democratic national committee to bring the national convention here the possession of an ideal convention hall was one of the strongest advantages Baltimore had to offer. Since that time, at the expense of many thousand dollars the hall has been made to answer every requirement of the delegates who assemble here on June 25 and the throngs that gather to watch their deliberations.

The democratic national convention will meet in the fifth regiment armory, which occupies nearly a whole city square in the Mount Royal district, fronting on Hoffman street, and bounded by Preston street in the rear. At the two ends of the block are Park and Linden avenues, both of which carry trolley lines connecting with the business center. Two squares distant is the main station of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and only a little further, barely five minutes walk, is the Union station, where passengers arrive on the other railroads entering the city. Close at hand, within easy walking distance, is the city's largest hotel.

Cost $450,000

When the state spent $450,000 for this drill hall to house Baltimore's famous regiment, the "Dandy Fifth," big conventions were in mind and the building was situated and designed with reference to affording such accommodations. Exterior embellishment was a secondary consideration. The fifth regiment armory is surrounded by massive walls of gray granite, two stories high, from which rise twelve steel trusses that carry the arched roof to a height of 55 feet. It is lighted by windows in the side walls and by a sky-light that runs the whole length of the apex of the roof. From the outside the appearance of the structure is not particularly impressive, probably because the principal dimensions are lateral, and too extensive for the eye to appreciate unless the beholder could look down on the building from an elevation. The armory extends 354 feet in width on Hoffman and Preston streets and is 234 feet deep. The great drill hall inside, where the convention will assemble, is 200x200 feet.

To adapt this building further to convention purposes the state appropriated $35,000. The greater part of this sum has been spent to increase the seating capacity by putting in temporary balconies at the two ends of the drill hall. Decorations, which include the construction of a false ceiling to improve the acoustic properties, cost $7,000. Several thousand dollars has been spent in the construction of the speakers' platform, on seats, and on remodeling the military company quarters at the sides and ends of the building for use as committee rooms.

40,000 Yards of Bunting

As one enters the hall through the main gateway on Hoffman street the eye first is impressed by the magnificent distances and the seemingly endless vistas of seats. Under the hands of the decorators the place has lost its military, utilitarian look, transformed by the more than 40,000 yards of bunting that hides the roof beams, drapes the walls and covers practically every foot of the interior except the windows and floor spaces. The background is a soft effect of cream, gold and white, which makes an effective setting for the national colors displayed in countless arrangements, and the insignia and colors of the various states. The seating arrangements here are the result of long study on the architect's part, aided by the practical experience of men versed in the practical problems of great conventions. This hall will seat comfortably more than 15,000 persons, and those in charge of the preparation believe they have surmounted their problem so that every member of this great audience can command a view of the speakers' stand and understand what is being said. To bring this about the location of the speaker's platform was the matter of first importance.

Speakers' Rostrom

In the Baltimore hall the speakers will stand well out toward the middle of the auditorium, directly opposite the main central entrance, midway between the ends of the hall and about 50 feet, or more than one-third the distance, from the rear wall of the interior. This rostrum, the heart of the convention hall, is not large enough to permit much pacing about on the orator's part. It measures about 15 feet long by ten feet deep. It is elevated six feet above the main floor.

Back of the rostrum, two feet above it and communicating by steps, is another platform of the same size for the use of the secretaries of the convention. Back of this are 600 seats, banked at the rear to a height of 14 feet, which are reserved for the officers of the national organization. Grouped about the speakers' platform, at both sides and in front, are 435 seats for the press. These communicate through passages under the banked-up seats behind with the company rooms outside the drill hall which have been fitted up for the use of the newspapers and press associations and telegraph and telephone companies. From these offices, within sound of the speaker's voice and of the secretary as he announces the results of each ballot, wires that will carry the news of the convention to the world.

In front of the platform, separated only by the narrow row of press seats and an aisle, are the places for the delegates who come to Baltimore to register the presidential choice of the party in the various states and territories of the union. Although the number of votes these states and territories may cast aggregates 1024, the architects have provided seats for 1200 delegates because some of the states, Maryland among them, send to Baltimore twice as many delegates as they have votes, each delegate being the custodian of half a vote. Back of the delegates sit an equal number of alternates, and these 2400 seats occupy the center of the floor between the platform and the entrance. These four blocks of seats will hold much of the life and motion of the convention. The location of the representatives of each state will be shown by an elevated sign.

75 Sections of Seats

For convenience in handling the crowds, the convention hall seats have been divided into 75 sections, of which 49 are on the floor and the rest in the balconies. The floor will seat 10,624 and the balconies 4,408. Dedicating the seats on the floor reserved for officials, delegates and alternates, and the press leaves 7,220 for the public. These with the balconies make room for 11,628 seats for the accommodation of Baltimoreans and visitors who are expected by the ten-thousands from all parts of the country.

The public seats on the main floor occupy the two ends of the hall and run at right angles to the delegates' seats, so that when a speaker on the rostrum is facing the delegates the greater part of the audience will get side views of him. The great balconies that have been added temporarily to the armory project from the ends and overhang nearly half their end seats on the floor. These two balconies, 200 feet long by 52 feet deep. At the front and back of the hall the narrow permanent balconies have been equipped with three rows of seats that will accommodate between four and five hundred. The balconies are 13 feet above the ground floor in front and securely supported by beams of wood and steel. The two at the ends of the hall are banked so that the view from the rear seats will be unobstructed.

To facilitate quick emptying of the building, 13 new doors have been cut in the granite walls, making a total of 15. Twelve of these are for the use of those who hold tickets to the balconies, and enable the balconies to connect directly with the street. The extra doors on the ground floor are for use mainly as exits, since no difficulty is anticipated in handling all who enter through the wide entrance in the front and center of the building.

Seats for the public are reserved only by sections, which are designated by numbers and letters. The larger blocks of seats are numbered and each numbered block is divided into three sub-sections, lettered respectively "A," "B," and "C." A ticketholder who finds his place of pastboard stamped, for instance, "3—B" will find his seat about the 132 chairs grouped under that sub-division. These subdivisions include from 42 to 217 seats each and the most desirable chairs in each division will go to the earliest comers. The convention hall band will be in a stand erected over the main entrance. Space has been given for 200 musicians. A telephone with an electric signal light connects the leader's stand with the desk of the chairman at the opposite side of the hall, so that the latter may signal his wishes. The chairman's position is connected by telephone also with the six committee rooms, which have been fitted up in the vacated company quarters at the two ends of the building.

No Expense Spared

No expense has been spared to beautify the interior of the hall. The principal task of the remodelers was the construction of a false ceiling which would improve the acoustic properties by preventing the speakers' voices from being lost among the lofty steel trusses of the curved roof. This has been accomplished by suspending from the roof beams arched trusses of wooden framework which have been covered with bunting. The spaces between have been filled in with bunting so as to present an unbroken cloth ceiling which at a distance looks more permanent than its temporary use demanded. The ceiling is cream colored paneled with gold.

The construction of this false ceiling and the draping of the walls and floors and the installation of the flags, pictures and party slogans which make up the interior decorations occupied 14 men for more than a month and cost $7000. Thirty-four thousand yards of cream, gold and white bunting have been used and 6000 yards of red, white and blue. To sew these strips of cloth together six seamstresses drove their sewing machines eight hours a day for two weeks. Three hundred flags have been used. The balcony railings are festooned with national colors and at the base of each arch descending from the roof is the insignia of some state or territory. The speakers' stand is covered with red, white and blue, with the colors and arms of the state of Maryland banked in front. Most conspicuous of the portraits that adorn the walls are paintings of Washington and Jefferson, each eight feet square and executed especially for this purpose.

A feature of these decorations which the committee in charge is particularly proud of is that every yard of bunting used has been fire-proofed. The fire proofing preparation was mixed with the dye and has not changed the appearance of the cloth subjected to this process. Although the cotton cloth used in its natural state is very inflammable, the fire-proofing bunting will not blaze even when thrown into the fire. The cloth will char, but only in places to which a flame is directly applied.

The use of this fire-proof bunting in a building constructed of stone, brick and steel has not, however, prevented the convention committee from taking other precautions against a possible fire. The hall is provided with an unusual number of exits, and the fact that the main floor is on a level with the outside street is regarded as another valuable factor of safety.

A SHAVING INVESTMENT

How much does it cost to keep your old style razor in condition? Think it over, and then $2, the price of the "Angle Stopper," won't seem so much. In addition to this, it will keep your razor in better shape for every shave than it ever was before. Attachments to hold every make of safety razor blade come with the machine. Everything for the shaver at "The Safety Razor Shop," Howard, the Druggist, 137 Central street. (Use Cream after shaving.)

Saw Saturday's Double Header

Lowell and Haverhill met at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon in the first local double-header of the season. Added to the double bill, the fact that Eddie McGinnis, Lowell's new first baseman who was secured from Haverhill was presented a check for $50, attracted one of the largest crowds of the season to the park. In the Haverhill lineup, Bill Cooney, who was traded for McGinnis, was seen and he was given a big hand when he came to the bat the first time. He has a great many friends in Lowell and last season played good ball here. During the game the wise ones were doing out the deal and comparing the work of the two principals in the trade.

The first time McGinnis stepped to the plate, William H. Sullivan, of the Sun, official scorer for the Lowell team, advanced to the plate and presented the first baseman the check for $50. He was the first man to hit the ball in the local park this season and was to have been given the check Thursday, but owing to the rain the presentation was deferred until today. When the umpire signaled to stop the game, there was a great cheer and it was some time before the applause subsided.

When given the check, McGinnis said: "While I expected the check, I never thought that I would be given such a reception. While I sincerely thank the Bill Durham company and you for the check I want to express my gratitude to the fans. They certainly have treated me fairly today and I will try and be worthy of their applause." There was another outburst of enthusiasm and then the game went on.

Lowell took the first game, 7 to 1, and Haverhill captured the second, 5 to 3.

First Inning

Haverhill went to the bat and Courtney, the first man and a bad one at the bat, hit to Loneragan, who made an overthrow to first and Courtney got first. He forgot, however, that the best fielding pitcher in the league was on the job and started for second. But the minute the ball was hit Wolfgang had started to cover first, and when the ball went wide of McGinnis, Wolfgang, who was behind the bag, intercepted it and got Courtney between the bags and run him out. It was some fielding for a pitcher. Campbell hit to Wolfe and retired. Matthews singled to left field and looked good for a moment. Then he foolishly tried to steal second and Lavigne whipped him out by a beautiful throw.

Clemens was in no hurry and after waiting for the necessary number of bad ones walked leisurely to first. Magee fled out to Young. Just to show that he could move fast Clemens stole second and got away without arrest. DeGroat waved three beautiful waves and then waited himself to the bench. Bouites hit to Barry and died at first. Score, Lowell 6, Haverhill 0.

Second Inning

Bill Cooney, the ex-Lowell shortstop, was first up for the visitors and that he left many friends behind him upon leaving this burg was evidenced by the great reception tendered him as he stepped on the first line. Bill was overcome and popped a fly to McGinnis. Young hit to Loneragan and went out at first. Pratt hit to Wolfgang and died at first.

McGinnis was first up for Lowell in this inning and was given the check.

After Mac had made a speech of thanks the opposing pitcher charitably allowed him to walk to first. Miller got hit by a pitched ball and got on. McGinnis got too far off second and Barry by a sharp throw nailed him. Loneragan hit to Young, forcing Miller at second. Lavigne fled to Courtney. Score—Lowell 6, Haverhill 0.

Third Inning

Reynolds hit to Loneragan and was a dead one at first. Pratt was there with a single to centre, but Barry hit in front of the plate and Lavigne took care of him at first. Courtney hit to Miller and was third out at first.

Lowell did something in this inning getting one hit and incidentally one run. It happened this way: Wolfgang hit to Young and died at first. Clemens again waited and walked and then Magee sacrificed and he got to second. Along comes the craft with a happy smile on his open face. De passed a little soft talk to Barry and then cracked one of his benders for a single to centre which scored Clemens. Bouites hit to Cross and went out at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Fourth Inning

Campbell hit to Bouites but Jake was there with the long throw and got him. Matthews appeared to be well acquainted with Wolfgang for he touched him for his second single. He stole second and White called him safe though no one else could see it that way. Lavigne making a fine throw, Courtney popped a fly in front of the plate which Lavigne deposited in his mitt. Young hit to Wolfe and joined the long list of dead ones at first.

Nothing doing. McGinnis hit to Cooney and Bill fumbled and Mac landed the base. Miller beat out a pretty haul, sending Mac ahead. Loneragan fanned. Lavigne fled to Courtney. Wolfgang hit to Young, forcing Miller at second.

Score: Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Fifth Inning

Cross fled out to Bouites. Reynolds fled out to Miller. Pratt hit to Loneragan who made his second bad throw letting Pratt on. Barry hit a grounder to McGinnis who put him out without assistance. Third hit, a single to left. Magee advanced him with a sacrifice. De Groat fled out to Courtney. Bouites hit a grounder and retired at first.

Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Sixth Inning

In this inning Campbell walked and then tried a delayed steal, but Wolfe had him doped right and throwing to Loneragan got him. Matthews doubled to left field, making his third hit in three times up. But he was left at the second station for Cooney fled out to Clemens. In Lowell's half, the champions suddenly came to life and scored three runs. McGinnis started the fireworks with a single to right and he stole second a bad throw by Pratt adding him. Miller fanned. Loneragan singled to centre and Mac scored, while Loneragan went to second on the throw home. Lavigne fanned. Wolfgang singled through Barry and Loneragan scored the second run. Clemens got the crowd to its feet with a clean three sucker to right field and Wolfe scored. Magee hit to Young and died at first.

Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Seventh Inning

Young hit to Loneragan who fumbled making the third error for the Lowell shortstop. Cross hit to Miller forcing Young at second. Reynolds walked. Pratt fanned out. Barry hit to Loneragan forcing Reynolds at second.

Three more for the Speed brothers in the seventh. De Groat hit to Young and died at first. Bouites walked and got second on a passed ball. McGinnis got a scratch hit and Jake made third. McGinnis started to steal second and on the throw Jake started off third. Campbell quickly put the ball in the crowd to his feet with a fence which necessitated ground rules. Miller hit into the crowd and was allowed two bases only while Mac went to third. Loneragan singled and McGinnis scored. Miller getting third. Loneragan and Miller worked a double steal. Miller scoring when Campbell dropped the ball at second. Lavigne singled and Loneragan scored. Wolfgang fled out to Courtney. Score Lowell 7, Haverhill 0.

Eighth Inning

In the eighth Courtney hit to Bouites and died at first. Campbell fanned. Matthews fled out to Magee. Clemens walked. Magee fled out to Young. De Groat hit to Campbell forcing Clemens at second. Bouites hit over the fence but it was a foul. De Groat stole second and kept going till he reached third on Pratt's bad throw. Bouites fled out to Courtney who made a dandy running catch. Lowell 7, Haverhill 0.

Ninth Inning

Cooney hit to Bouites who threw bad and he got on. Young singled over third sending Cooney to second. Cross hit to Loneragan forcing Young at second. Cooney going to third. Reynolds fouled to Lavigne. Cross made second on the catch. Pratt walked and the bases. Kessler went to bat for Barry. Cooney scored on a passed ball, and the other runners advanced. Kessler fanned.

SECOND GAME
In the second game Pitcher Kessler, who came here from Lawrence, started the firing for Lowell, but after retiring two men in the second inning the Haverhill men got to him and it was back to the bench and later back to the old socks for the big Lawrence castoff. Lowell started off well and got to Kessler, who worked for the visitors, in the first inning, for three runs. After that, however, the same Kessler had Lowell at his mercy. After Clemens went out on a fly to Campbell, Magee singled and stole second. De Groat went out on a fly to Matthews. Bouites walked. McGinnis singled to right, scoring Magee and landing on the throw. Miller going to second on the throw. Miller hit to Campbell, who beat the ball and though he recovered it quickly, Bouites and McGinnis had counted and Miller was later put out at first.

After Cooney and Young had gone out on flies, Cross, Reynolds and Pratt singled and Kessler tripped to deep centre and cleared the bases. Maybom was brought to the mound and made a wild pitch which let Kessler score. Haverhill got another in the fifth, when after Reynolds had singled, Kessler pitched another three-bagger.

TWO MORE BATTLESHIPS ARE ON THE WAY TO CUBA REPORT OF RACIAL WAR DENIED

WASHINGTON, June 10.—American marines were expected to be available for service in Havana before noon today. The cruiser Washington and the battleship Rhode Island, which steamed out from Key West early this morning under orders sent from Washington late last night were expected to make the run across the straits of Florida to the Cuban capital in about six hours. Each of these ships in addition to her regular complement of 65 marines carries an extra complement of 125, including officers. They would only be landed in the Cuban capital in case of dire emergency, in which event the blue-jackets of both ships also would be available.

The gravity with which this government regards the situation is indicated by the fact that Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commander of the Atlantic fleet, is aboard his flagship, the Washington, to observe conditions in Havana at first hand. The remainder of the third division of the fleet remains at Key West and can join the flagship in a few hours.

The mine planter San Francisco leaves Annapolis today with a complement of midshipmen aboard and will join the ships at Key West. The first division of the Atlantic fleet, the Massachusetts, Utah, North Dakota, Florida and Delaware, also leave Annapolis today with midshipmen aboard. While their destination is now Cape Cod there is no assurance that the navy department may not order these ships to join the fleet near Cuba at any moment.

Speaker Ferrer of the Cuban house of representatives, one of the first lieutenants of Pres. Gomez will have a conference today with Secretary Knox at which the situation will be thoroughly canvassed. The speaker is non-communistic about his mission.

REPORT DENIED THAT THERE IS DANGER OF RACIAL WAR

HAVANA, June 10.—The publication in this morning's papers here of the news of the dispatch of the United States warships from Key West to Havana under command of Rear-Admiral Osterhaus created a profound impression. The fact was entirely unknown except in official circles last night. The popular impression is that the coming of the American ships means speedy intervention by the United States. Officials, however, unanimously scout the idea of intervention, regarding the sending of the warships as a friendly act on the part of the United States. They declare they deplore that a racial war is about to break out. The officials assert that the rioting in the streets of Havana on Saturday night was not insignificant of race hatred, but they do not explain the reason for the extensive military preparations which were taken to prevent a breach of the peace in the capital last night.

TWO BATTLESHIPS LEFT TODAY FOR TRIP TO CUBA

KEY WEST, Fla., June 10.—The battleship Rhode Island and the cruiser Washington left here this morning presumably for Havana. They were under sealed orders. Rear Admiral Hugo Eckhardt, commander of the third division of the Atlantic fleet was on board the Washington, his flagship.

U. S. MARINES REPULSED INSURGENTS WHO MADE AN ATTACK ON THEM

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 10.—A company of United States marines commanded by Captain Edward Matwar engaged in a battle with insurgents who were attacking them at one o'clock this morning by a force of insurgents who were repulsed after considerable fighting. There were no casualties among the marines and the loss of the insurgents is unknown.

Lakeville avenue, Haverhill, with his son and daughter, aged 7 and 9 respectively, and his mother, narrowly escaped death in a collision between his auto and a street car at Dole's corner, Salisbury Plains, yesterday afternoon. The seven passenger touring car was so badly wrecked that it had to be abandoned.

Mr. Darling was coming into Newbury as was an electric car of the Haverhill beach division, and in his attempt to pass the car in making the curve he found himself wedged between the car and a barn of Joseph DeLong, the track crossing the highway. The auto, caught in the pocket, struck a large pole carrying overhead wires and then on to the barn. The electric was also damaged.

POLICE AND MILITIA ARE STILL ON GUARD At Mills of Russell Manufacturing Co

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 10.—No disturbance of any kind marked resumption of work this morning at the Russell Manufacturing Co., where about 300 employees are on strike for higher wages and adjustment of certain working conditions. It had been announced that the strikers would march out to the mills this morning headed by a brass band and begin peaceful picketing but the demonstration did not take place and it was stated this morning by one of the strike leaders that while that had been the plan at a conference last night the heads of the strikers decided not to take it.

It is expected that some time during the morning a committee representing the strikers will visit the mills for a conference with officials of the company and present a modified form of demands. A few of the strikers straggled down to the mills at South Farms to be paid off. The efforts made so far by the strikers to get out the employees still at work have not been successful. The police and military forces are still on guard at the mills.

MGR. J. E. MILLERICK PASSED AWAY TODAY
He Was Ordained Priest 40 Years Ago

BOSTON, June 10.—Right Rev. Mgr. Jeremiah E. Millerick, pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church in the West End, at which Cardinal William H. O'Connell was once stationed as curate, died early today from the effects of a paralytic shock. He had just completed 40 years as a priest.

Father Millerick was a member of the party that went to Rome when Archbishop O'Connell was elevated to the cardinalate. He had been pastor of several churches in the Boston diocese and was made monsignor when Cardinal O'Connell received the red hat. A brother, Rev. William J. Millerick, pastor of St. Patrick's church of Stoughton, survives him.

Haverhill Man and Members of Family Had Narrow Escape at Salisbury Plains

PITTSFIELD, June 10.—P. Max Thurlow, of Brookline, a commission broker, while driving a powerful automobile on the Dutton road shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning, ran down and killed Andrew Leonard and Joseph Doucet and badly injured John F. Callaghan, who were walking on the highway.

In his endeavor to avoid striking the men in the road Thurlow turned his car at almost right angles across the trolley tracks, with the result that the machine struck a pole, carrying trolley wires, tore down the pole and went into the ditch at the foot of an em-

IMPOSING CEREMONY AT THE NOVITIATE

Grand Procession and Beautiful Service

The little town of Tewksbury was the scene yesterday of an event which will live in the memories of many of its inhabitants as long as there remains a spark of faith in the Catholic people of that town. The Corpus Christi procession at the Novitiate grounds was an event which will never be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to witness it. That same Lord who passed triumphantly through the streets of the former mistress of the world, yesterday passed in equal triumph through the worshipping crowd of the faithful who knelt in mute adoration as the Lord of Hosts passed in their midst.

It was an ideal day for such an event. The trees were clothed with an abundance of living green, amongst which blossoms clustered thickly and diffused a soft, faint fragrance upon the air. The sky was blue, scarcely marred by the white clouds, which fitted across its surface while the bright rays of the sun lit up the entire landscape like the smile of God.

All the natural beauties of the Novitiate made a picturesque background for the abundance of flags, festoons, and bunting scattered over the grounds. The route of the procession was marked with flags, a fitting addition to the stately majesty, the natural grandeur of the way that blossomed to the motto of the Most Holy God, beneath whose mantle rest the bodies of men whose lives were a model to all and whose deeds placed them in the highest rank among the great heroes of the past.

The repository was a work of art. The abundance of flowers, palms, and potted plants furnished by friends, seemed to decorate the altar in a way which made it as near a reality as possible for the aspirants who were to see on this earth. The rich velvet curtain hung behind the altar, and the tall trees against whose sturdy trunks the altar rested but brought out more strikingly the artistic floral arrangement. Candles burned in abundance, faint symbols of the brightly shining many votive prayers which gathered around this open air shrine of their king. The procession started promptly at 3 o'clock. Bro. J. Moriarty, O. M. I., bearing a large cross and assisted by Nathan Scott, Frank Johnson, Alex. McKillop and Frank McHugh as acolytes, led the procession. Following these were the boys and girls of the parish. Then came the Children of Mary, the Holy Rosary society, the Sisters of the Holy Family, the brothers of the novitiate, and the fathers vested in sacerdotal robes. Behind these were the flower girls, Helena Matthews, May McKillop, Doris Quinn and Louise Mandall. Immediately in front of the golden monstrance, Bro. Robert McCoy, O. M. I., acting as deacon, and Brother Charles Webb, O. M. I., acting as sub-deacon.

The procession left the chapel, and passing through the front entrance of the novitiate descended the stone steps to the open air. Immediately upon leaving the chapel, the schola cantica choir began the joyful "Lauda Sion" chanting verse after verse of this inspiring hymn. Now and again the parish choir, composed of the Children of Mary, under the direction of Rev. Bro. Haley, O. M. I., would vary the chant by singing in English such hymns as "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" or "Gloria Hail, Accented Hallelujah." Circled around the heart which lies carpet-like beyond the steps the procession moved up the path to the grotto, passing beneath a continual arch of green trees, and entered the abode of the dead. Returning by the same way, it passed beneath a temporary arch of white birch trees, and approached the rectory. When all had entered the enclosed space, prepared for them, and after a white silk veil had been drawn over the monstrance, a splendid sermon on the blessed sacrament was preached by Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., of the Immaculate Conception church, Lowell.

It would be impossible to give a fitting sketch of the sermon and to quote extracts from it would detract from the eloquence and forcefulness of the speaker. In strong, earnest language, he spoke of that grand mystery so dear to Catholic hearts, and exhorted his hearers to approach often and eat of the bread of angels, that their souls might be strengthened for the battle of life.

Following the sermon, Master Hugh Downey sang the "Ave Maria" in a sweet voice, little short of angelic. The schola cantica choir rendered the "Tantum Ergo." After this, benediction was given by Rev. B. J. McKenna, O. M. I., the procession then re-formed and marched back to the chapel amid the chanting of the "Lauda Sion" and the rendering of touching hymns by the parish choir. Within the chapel benediction was given a second time, and with this the sacred ceremony came to a close.

OLD POINT, Va., June 10.—The presidential yacht Mayflower, with the president and Mrs. Taft and a party of their guests aboard, narrowly escaped a collision early today with the steamer Northland near Point Lookout.

The Northland, on her regular trip to Old Point and Norfolk, left Washington shortly after the Mayflower. Although she is a much speedier boat, Capt. Posey made no attempt to pass the president. Shortly after the Northland passed into Chesapeake Bay, however, where there is plenty of sea room, the oiler on watch decided to force ahead.

At that time the Navy boat was probably a third of a mile ahead of the Northland and a few hundred yards to the starboard of the Northland's course. The Northland gave a signal that she wished to pass on the Mayflower's port side, and a few seconds later came the response from the yacht, one whistle blast, meaning that she wished the Northland to pass not on the port side, but on the starboard.

Officers in the Northland's pilot house were astonished when they heard the Mayflower's one whistle, but they were even more surprised when the Mayflower began slowly to cross her bow. It was a few seconds before they grasped just what was happening.

Then four or five sharp blasts shot from the Northland's whistle, meaning the seas over "Danger! Look out!" The quartermaster swung the wheel over, the engines of the Northland were slowed down and she sheered to port while the Mayflower made her way across the Northland's course. Then the Mayflower seemed to slow up and the Northland passed on her starboard quarter.

There Was a Marked Weakness in Steel Shares

Paul—Announcement That No Antitrust Decision Would Be Rendered Caused Abrupt Weakness in the Coal Shares

NEW YORK, June 10.—Extreme dullness prevailed at the opening of today's stock market. Changes in the active list were nominal with a two point decline in American Steel.

An increasing tendency toward reaction was shown in the first hour. The coalers manifested great heaviness with a mixture of substantial gains and losses in the specialties.

An element of restraint in today's stock market lay in the possible announcement of some important decisions by the United States supreme court. This was reflected in the heaviness of the anthracite issues and the uncertainty of the movement elsewhere, various properties being directly concerned in cases now before that court. Steel hovered within a fraction of last week's close, despite the belief that many tonnage figures to be issued later in the day would be favorable.

Publication of the steel tonnage figures with an increase of only 86,000 tons was followed by renewed heaviness in that stock and other leaders, while trading in general again diminished.

Weakness of the Gould stocks contributed to the heaviness of the general market, all of the leaders falling fractionally below Saturday's closing. The market closed irregular.

Publication of the government crop report showing further serious deterioration of winter wheat was the feature of the last hour, with marked weakness in St. Paul. Announcement that no antitrust decisions would be rendered caused abrupt weakness in the coal shares.

THE CAR STRIKE IN BOSTON

BOSTON, June 10.—The endurance stage in the strike of several thousand of the motormen and conductors of the Boston Elevated Co. was reached today with each side confident of outlasting the other.

Cars ran on all divisions with normal service in some cases and at infrequent times in others. The average crew was without uniform except for a round metal badge on the cap. There were no disturbances during the forenoon, although motormen in some districts were jeered from the sidewalk. No arrests were made.

The company published a notice that employees who had left their positions and who had not been implicated in any disturbance would be given until noon today to return. At that hour, it was stated at the company's office that a number of men had resumed work.

On the other hand International Organizer Fred Fay and President Nathan of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees stated that not only were the men holding out for their demands for a minimum wage, shorter hours and recognition of the union, but additions to the strikers' ranks were being received hourly.

A band of strikebreakers reached here from New York early today and the men were distributed among the different divisions. The strikers' scouts maneuvered to capture a few but the main body of newcomers were too closely guarded.

Organizer Fay said that his scouts had interviewed a number of men who were still running cars and that the reports indicated that if the strikers showed any considerable strength in the parade planned for tomorrow afternoon they would quit. Numerous instances occurred where motormen unfamiliar with routes turned down wrong streets and otherwise inconvenienced passengers.

The elevated company through President William A. Hancock, announced at noon that traffic had reached the normal.

Organizer Fay stated at the same hour that the traffic was scarcely more than 25 per cent. of the normal.

A LONG STRUGGLE IS WHAT THE EMPLOYEES ARE LOOKING FOR

BOSTON, June 10.—The strike of several thousand employees of the Boston Elevated Railway for a minimum wage and unionism settled down today by a question of endurance. A partial resumption of the trolley service was made at sunrise after a quiet night. The strikers claimed today to be receiving additions and will make a show of strength in a marching demonstration tomorrow.

There were many new faces on both front and rear platforms on the trolley cars today. Many of the carriers wore no uniforms except caps which bore round metal badges instead of the blue and white insignia of the regular employees. Many of the motormen wore numerous service stripes. Young men were accompanied by young women apparently receiving instructions in the work.

About 100 strikebreakers. About 150 men reached the city from New York on one of the early morning trains. After having breakfast at the South station they were distributed about the different divisions of the road. One young man who came from New York on Saturday afternoon said today that he had no knowledge of electric cars. He said he was sent to South Boston and ran a car down Broadway for about two miles. The crowd became so threatening that he said he abandoned his car and joined the strikers.

At the strike headquarters many other men related similar experiences. The strike leaders expressed general satisfaction with the situation. They said they were confident of victory and offered to show evidence of sources of instances where inexperienced men had been placed in charge of cars.

That the disturbances in Dorchester, Jamaica Plain, Roxbury and Allston last night were due to the strikers was indignantly denied today by the strike leaders. It was admitted that the union men had representatives in the crowds but it was asserted that these men took no hand in the outbreaks.

The company announced that it was ready and willing to operate cars on a normal schedule as soon as sufficient protection was furnished. The company officers referred to several disturbances of last evening, to show that the operation of night lines was dangerous to the public.

Police on Duty. Large squads of police were sent to all the car barns when the service opened today and the police officials announced that the officials would be maintained there until released by the elevated company's superintendents. Officers rode on many of the cars but there were numerous instances where cars ran through densely populated districts without protection.

The company promised a nearer approach to normal service today and said that an attempt would be made to run all night cars and to maintain good service up to midnight. Except on the first day of the strike all the disturbances have taken place during the early evening hours when large crowds have gathered at the car barns and along some of the popular lines.

It has been during these hours of the day that stones have been thrown, trolley ropes cut, and arrests have been made.

Four men arrested in Cambridge on Friday for assaults on motormen and engaged in disorders in connection with the strike were sentenced to the house of correction for periods varying from two to six months. At the offices of the elevated company it was stated that more than 30 employees had accepted the published terms of the company and returned for work at noon. At the same time a statement was issued that every effort would be made tonight to maintain the usual schedule in the suburban sections, where operations were largely suspended on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

The following Lowell people are booked through Murphy's ticket agency to sail for Europe tomorrow on the Cunard line, steamer Franconia: Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Breidenberg, Master Roy Breidenberg, Miss Sarah South, Mrs. Mary Wilkins, Miss Anna S. Gillick, Miss Elizabeth Kierman, Miss Mary E. Tracey, Miss Della W. Markett, Mrs. J. H. Richardson, and Mrs. Daniel J. Richardson.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT MEN ENGAGED IN BITTER FIGHT

Hearing of Contest in Fourth Californian District Postponed —Indiana Cases Taken Up

CHICAGO, June 10.—Postponement of the hearing of the contest in the fourth California district this morning brought to high intensity the heated conflict between the Taft and Roosevelt factions in the republican national committee. The vote of 38 to 13 by which the postponement was effected on motion of Senator Crane of Massachusetts drew beyond any possible doubt the lines between the factions. The negative votes were those of Knight, California, Borah, Idaho, Burman, Kentucky, Wight, Louisiana, Kellogg, Minnesota, Litwiler (for Flannigan of Nevada), Ward, New York, Capers, South Carolina, Thorsen, South Dakota, Loose, Utah, Rogers, Wisconsin, Lyons, Texas and McCoy of the Philippines. The delegates then took up the case of the four delegates at large from Indiana. It was expected that the Indiana cases and perhaps those from Kentucky will be finished today.

SUES FOR $50,000 FOR PERSONAL INJURIES

Trial of Case Begun in Superior Court

The case of Gertrude C. Killpatrick, administratrix of the estate of the late J. C. W. Killpatrick, against Charles E. Cotter and Philip Dexter, trustees of the Tremont building in Boston, an action of tort, in which the plaintiff seeks to recover $50,000, was opened before Judge Stevens in the civil session of the superior court at the conclusion of the Stearns-Long case this morning.

It is alleged that while the deceased was leaving the sixth floor of the Tremont building in Boston he stepped into one of the elevators and before he had entered the car the boy who was operating the elevator closed the door and started the machine with the result that Mr. Killpatrick's left arm was caught between the door and the shaft and when the steel hood of the elevator descended it plucked the man. The elevator was stopped and sent back to the sixth floor and Mr. Killpatrick was removed to a hospital. It is alleged that the accident took place on Sept. 23, 1910, and on the 13th of November of the same year the man died. The plaintiff in the case was appointed administratrix on Dec. 14th.

CUMMINS MEN RAISE THE STANDARD OF THEIR CANDIDATE

CHICAGO, June 10.—The standard of Senator Albert Cummins of Iowa as republican presidential nominee was raised today by his colleague, Senator W. S. Kenyon, who arrived from Iowa full of enthusiasm for the Hawkeye candidate who now has ten delegates pledged to him. Headquarters in the hotel where the Taft and Roosevelt headquarters are located were engaged by Senator Kenyon and the Hawkeye club of Chicago assumed charge. Before leaving for Washington Senator Kenyon said: "Friends of Senator Cummins believe the rank and file of this republican party are tired of this controversy and that of personal politics. We present in him a man who can unite the party and lead it to an old time victory. His candidacy is not for the purpose of injuring anyone or punishing anyone."

It was expected that before night the headquarters of Senator La Follette would be opened in a downtown hotel with Wisconsin men actively at work for their candidate.

FARMING INTERESTS ARE MUCH INJURED

By the Cold Weather and Heavy Fall of Rain

Everybody talks about the weather and just for that it is a very popular subject and while the subject is a popular one the weather itself is anything but popular, and if the weather clerk should decide to spend his vacation in the country he will go a long way to find a place where he can pass as the star boarder.

The farmers in the vicinity of Lowell have very little use for the weather clerk at the present time, and when you tramp on the farmer's corn you hurt a whole lot of people. The ordinary farmer round about is right smart vexed and if it wasn't for the good hay and pasture prospects the farmer would have little to look forward to.

We have had some pretty cold weather and the growth of corn, beans, lettuce and all kinds of garden truck has been somewhat retarded. There was quite a frost last Friday night and it raised ructions in quite a number of places. Out in Westford, for instance, the thermometer, in some sections, registered two above zero and that of course was fatal to tomatoes, beans, corn, etc., that were above ground. The blackberry blossoms, too, were injured somewhat.

The frost was keenly felt in Pelham and other places and in some of the nearby towns the season is from two to three weeks behind time. The heavy rains of April and May filled the ground with water to such an extent that it has been impossible to plow in the lowlands. On the high lands the ground, as a rule, is in good condition but the weather has been too cold for quick or active growth. This is especially so with corn, beans, lettuce and all early varieties of garden truck.

The hay crop outlook, however, is exceptionally good. The rains have been a boon to the forest and grass lands. The pastures promise better feed than for the past few years and a few weeks of warm, sunny weather will hasten the growth in the fields now so well started.

Small fruits look well, we are told, and promise a good crop, although from sections come reports of damage by the high winds. The bloom was late this season. The cold, wet weather has been a great hindrance to the normal development of vegetation, but it has served the purpose of checking the multiplication and onward march of the moths and other insect pests which ravage the foliage of the fruit trees.

SOLEMNITY OF THE FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI OBSERVED

Beautiful Services Held in Cath- olic Churches—Thousands Witnessed Processions

In all the Catholic churches yesterday the solemnity of the feast of Corpus Christi was observed with special services. Solemn services and processions were held and the churches and sanctuaries were beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The services at St. Patrick's were very elaborate and were witnessed by one of the largest crowds in the history of the parish. The usual procession through the church aisles and around the church and academy grounds was participated in by the children who were recently confirmed, those who made their first communion and the members of the many parish societies. The members of the choir, the altar boys and the clergy were also in line. The blessed sacrament was carried under a large canopy in a beautiful gold monstrance by Rev. John McHugh. The church and rectory and the grounds were beautifully decorated with the national colors.

The ceremonies opened with benediction of the blessed sacrament in the church, with a large congregation. The procession was then formed and moved to the grounds of Notre Dame academy where benediction was again given at an altar erected for the occasion. The procession then moved along Fenwick street and up the main entrance of the church grounds presenting a beautiful and impressive spectacle. Upon arrival at the repository erected near the monument benediction was given. The line then marched into the church where the grand services were brought to a close with benediction of the blessed sacrament. Rev. John J. McHugh was celebrant, and he was assisted by Rev. Timothy Callahan as deacon and Rev. Joseph Curran as subdeacon. Mr. William O'Brien, P. R., preceded the officiating clergymen.

The procession was made up of the following: Thurifer Edward Flannery, Cross Bearer Edward O'Neill and Accolytes Daniel Powers and John F. Stapleton. Miss Blanche Ross, as the angel of the procession followed the little boys and girls of the Infant Jesus sodality, all dressed in white, the boys wearing red sashes and the girls wreaths of flowers came next and they were followed by the boys and girls who recently made their first communion.

The little girls wore dresses and veils of white and the boys were attired in dark suits with bands of white ribbon on their arms.

Next came the members of the Holy Angels' sodality who made a fine appearance by their large numbers. Following were the boys and girls of the Confirmation class. The Sacred Heart sodality of girls was next in order and was followed by the members of the Junior Holy Name sodality and the Children of Mary sodality. The Immaculate Conception sodality came next and then followed the Holy Family sodality. The members of the St. Cecilia choir and ninth grade pupils followed and then the members of the sanctuary choir, in charge of Brother Clement, alternated with the St. Cecilia choir in singing hymns as the procession moved through the grounds and street. A long line of flower girls or strewers preceded the officiating clergyman and the Lowell Cadet band, John J. Giblin, leader. The canopy, which covered the priest carrying the monstrance, was carried by Messrs. D. S. O'Brien, Dr. P. J. Bagley, John J. Sullivan and James Lyons.

James King and Michael Doherty were the hurriers who walked beside of Fr. McHugh who carried the sacred host. The lantern bearers were John Powers, John O'Brien, William Gilligan, Edward Keleher, John Keefe, Arthur Connolly. The master of ceremonies at benediction was Edward Neilligan, and the attendants to Monsignor O'Brien were Peter Gill and Fred Kelly.

The emblem bearers who took part in the procession were: Blessed Virgin, Regina Lyons; "Infant Jesus," Master John Donohue; "Saint Cecilia," Miss Rhea Mosher; "Saint Agnes," Miss Mary C. Brogan; "Saint Elizabeth," Miss Gertrude Buckley; "Saint Catherine," Miss Anna Brodine; "Wheat," Miss Elizabeth Harrigan; "Grapes," Miss Evelyn Barrows; "Chalice," Miss Catherine Mooney; "Falt," Miss Gertrude O'Brien; "Hope," Miss Louise Mahoney; "Charity," Miss Eleanor McAdoo; "Mystical Rose," Agnes Brennan; angels, Alice Pohn, Agnes Hennessey, Ethel Enwright, Elizabeth O'Brien, Elizabeth Coffey, Imelda Elmore, Sarah Richardson, Prentiss Richardson, Helen Donnelly.

The flower girls or strewers were: Misses Juliette Marin, Marion Mullany, Marguerite Bourgeois, Loretta McNabb, Beatrice Lynch, Margaret Donohue, Alice Saunders, Marcella Courtney, Mona McCarty, Estelle Coffey, Mary Coffey, Frances O'Brien, Margaret Hogan, Gabriel Bosse, Grace Donnelly, Louise Shiller, Helen Kierman, Elizabeth Prentiss, Rebecca Lamontagne, Mary Stafford, Leda Lamontagne, Mary Lee, Catherine Scanlon, Alice Morrissey, Mary Hanley, Helen Lyons, Cecilia Cadoret, Mary O'Connor and Julia Donahue.

The banner bearers were: Miss Louise McKenna, Miss Marion Schartz, Master John Sullivan, Master George McKenna, Master Frank McCarthy, Master Homer Bourgeois, Master Jas. Mullany, Master Joseph Barrett. The matters were represented by: Misses Catherine Moran, Marion Keiley, Mary Brodine, Frances McCarthy, Agatha Brodine, Mary Provost, Sadie Smith, Rose McNaney and Beulah Bourgeois.

At St. Peter's Corpus Christi was celebrated at St. Peter's church yesterday morning after the solemn high mass at 11 o'clock by a procession in which the blessed sacrament was borne, through the aisles of the church, the sanctuary choir boys and the girls of the Children of Mary sodality accompanying the procession of the clergy bearing the monstrance.

The solemn high mass at 11 o'clock was celebrated by Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, with Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D., as deacon and Rev. W. C. Mullin as subdeacon. The sermon was delivered by Rev. John F. Burns, and it was an eloquent discourse on the day and its significance.

The altar was beautifully decorated with flowers and hundreds of waxen candles, which shed a mellow radiance over the soft hues of the flowers, the shimmering marble and the white shimmery altar vestments. The resplendent beauty of the altar, the chanting of the vested choir and the beautiful music of the mass made this service one of almost perfect beauty.

The music at this mass was especially fine, one of the most beautiful of the chants being that which was sung at the offertory, "Pange Masses," an anthem written by Cardinal O'Connell, both words and music being of his composition. The solo was taken by Mr. Lawrence Delaney.

The major portion of the singing was done by the vested choir under the direction of Rev. Fr. Burns, and it was in capable hands. Rarely if ever has the choir been heard to better advantage. Especially praiseworthy was the solo of Master Francis Kieran, the possessor of a charming soprano voice.

At the close of the mass the host was placed in the monstrance and, under a canopy of white and gold and preceded by altar boys bearing censers, was borne in solemn procession through the aisles of the church, the many hundreds in the congregation falling on their knees in reverence before it.

Immediately before the blessed sacrament the altar boys and the boys of the sanctuary choir followed, two by two, in their black cassocks and white surplices, and just preceding them came the girls of the Children of Mary sodality. Francis Kelly was cross bearer at the head of the procession.

As the procession moved about the aisles of the church the choir afterwards sang "Pange Lingua." Mr. J. Donnelly took the solo in the left choir with chorus by vested choir.

The procession of the Children of Mary was arranged and directed by Rev. W. George Mullin, to whom much of its beauty of arrangement and its remarkable success are due.

Services in connection with the novena in honor of the Sacred Heart will be continued tonight, tomorrow night, Wednesday night, at 7:30 and Thursday night at 7, coming to a close on Friday. Masses on Friday, the feast of the Sacred Heart will be celebrated at 5 and 7 o'clock and it is expected that the number of communicants will be large. Friday evening, the devotion of the "Holy Hour" will take place, with special music.

In St. Paul's chapel last evening the Holy Name society held its monthly religious meeting with a splendid attendance of members. Rev. John F. Burns officiated and he spoke eloquently on the society, its aims and its charitable purposes. The devotion of the Blessed Sacrament was given. Following the religious meeting the society held a business session with Pres. James W. Cook presiding. Routine matters principally were discussed while preparations were made for the quarterly communion in July.

The new parish school of the parish will be completed, it is understood, not before the summer of 1913.

Immaculate Conception. The services at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday in honor of the feast of Corpus Christi were conducted on an elaborate scale. The church looked most beautiful, the altars being decorated with flowers and lights and the interior presented a very pretty picture. At the 7:30 o'clock mass the children who recently received first communion approached the altar for the second time. The members of the Holy Name society also received holy communion. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., and communion was given by Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I.

At 11 o'clock solemn high mass was celebrated. Rev. Lawrence Tisha, O. M. I., was celebrant and he was assisted by Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Bro. Robert McCoy, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. During the mass the blessed sacrament was exposed. The choir, under the direction of Joseph P. Courtney, sang Blaise's mass. At the offertory, Miss Nellie Donahue sang "O Salutaris." Mrs. Hugh Walker presided at the organ.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening the services were most impressive as the annual procession in honor of the feast was held and one of the largest crowds that ever viewed the ceremonies was present. In the parade were the children who recently received their first communion, the members of the Children of Mary and the Immaculate Conception sodalities and other church societies. The girls in the line wore white dresses and veils and the boys were attired in dark suits. The procession marched from the church to Columbus park, with the choir singing the beautiful "Pange Lingua." After circling the grounds the line moved to

The season of school graduations is upon us, and soon the graduates will be leaving school, most of them to seek employment in the factories of the city.

We do not believe there is much danger of any attempt to make the graduation at the High school so dressy that it will be embarrassing to any of the graduates. The aim should be to avoid anything like display in dress. It is in bad taste, unnecessary and unfair to those whose parents cannot afford the expense.

Those who pass on to higher schools or to college can put off for a time the consideration of the all important problem of selecting a vocation. Nothing will so help in this as a course in manual training which reveals to the pupils the power and dignity of labor and prevents them from looking with scorn upon any occupation in which manual labor is required. Some fifteen years ago the graduates of the High school went out into the world with the idea that they were altogether too nice to engage in any kind of business in which they would have to use their hands. As a result they wasted the best years of their lives looking for a genteel job. Some of them became confirmed loafers, and others accepted some menial position in a store or factory, in many cases serving as clerks for men who never entered the High school, but who were not afraid of work and who attained success where the graduates of the High school would starve.

Times have changed since then, and vocational training in one form or another is receiving due attention. Its greatest value lies in the assistance it offers the boy in finding out for himself just for what calling or occupation he is best adapted. It is remarkable what an erroneous idea the average boy has of his own ability and his adaptability to this or that kind of work.

Every boy has certain talents, the proper development of which will enable him to win success, but it takes time, study, application and perseverance to attain excellence in any calling. Therefore it is necessary for a graduate first to select a calling for which he has some aptitude, and then to use all his efforts to excel. This requires concentration of effort, perseverance and will power. The boy who keeps shifting from one thing to another can never succeed in anything because nowadays with so much competition in every line no man can win real success without concentrating his efforts on some particular line of work and climbing with all his might towards the top where we are told there is never any crowding.

THE SALISBURY BEACH CONUNDRUM

No law passed by the legislature for a long time is so much of a conundrum as that which refers to Salisbury beach. The object of the law is to make the beach a state reservation, and yet it is not the state but the cities and towns of the Merrimack valley that will have to bear the expense. There will be an income from the sale and leasing of land; but should this not be sufficient to pay the expenses incurred by the commission the Merrimack valley district will have to meet the deficit. Little is known as to what amount will have to be paid for taking over the beach, but it is likely that the sum will be quite large. The present owners will have to get their money back and considerably more we surmise, while in addition there will probably be tedious and expensive litigation. All in all it is hard to predict who will be benefited by this law. At one of the hearings Mr. Coulson told a committee of the legislature that in case the law should pass and the property be seized by the state, the commissioners would have to pay the present owners, not the lessees, for the buildings as well as the land. Some of the cottagers have purchased the lots, others hold them under lease, while some others whose leases expired cannot purchase and find that they cannot sell the houses which thus revert to the owners of the land.

THE BOSTON CAR STRIKE

The Boston car strike is an outrage to the community for which the company is quite as much responsible as the strikers. General Bancroft's boast that he would spend a million dollars rather than recognize the union, showed first an unfriendly spirit, and second that the company had plenty of money to spend in fighting labor but none to meet the demands of labor. That was the worst tactical blunder that any man at the head of a great railroad system could possibly make. It was a challenge to the unions, the agitators and the "direct action" men the country over. The promptness with which this challenge was accepted showed what a boomerang this statement proved to be. General Bancroft, we surmise, will have to modify his temper before he can restore peace with his men and resume operations under a new wage schedule dictated by the unions whether recognized or not. Meanwhile the much abused public will have to suffer.

General Bancroft's million dollars will not go very far in meeting the expense of a great railroad strike; but if the expense to the general public be computed as well as the loss to the company, the cost will be enormous.

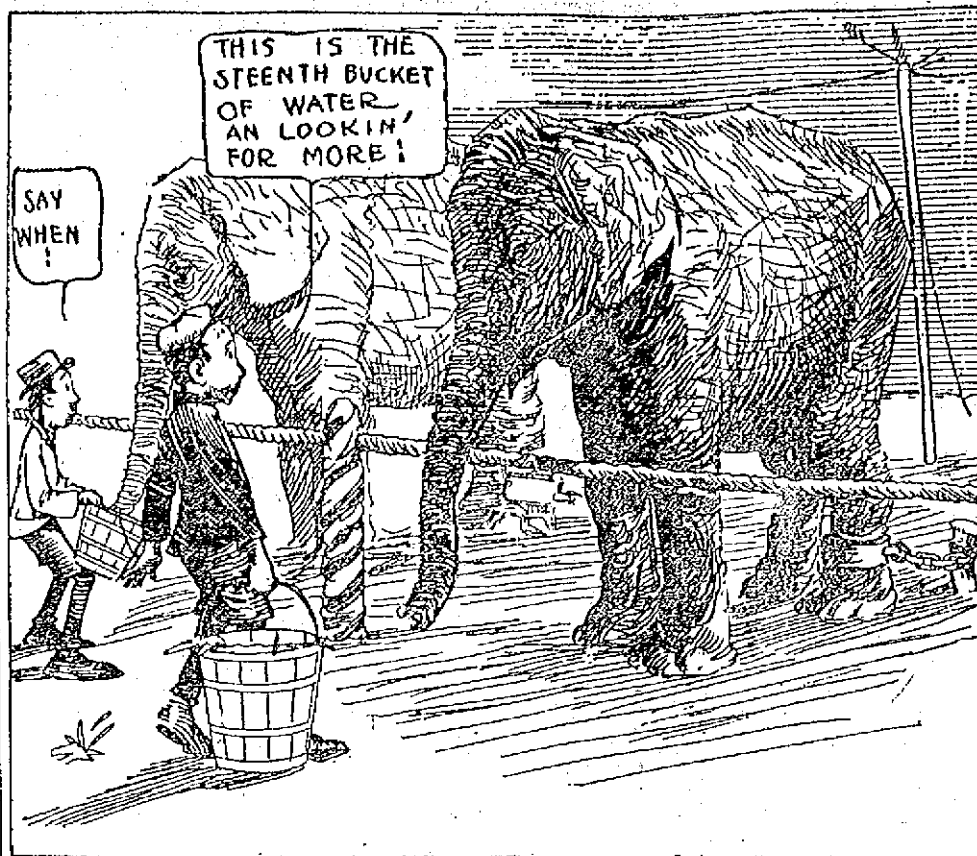

PENSIONS FOR TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company has adopted a very liberal pension system for its employees. It will apply to employees who have been in the service of the company over twenty years and aims at rewarding faithful service. While the corporation is thus aiding its faithful employees it is also adding to the efficiency of the service and setting an example worthy of emulation by other corporations.

The opposition to the bill now before the legislature to give the municipal board permission to borrow $300,000 outside the debt limit is taking a political aspect. The aim of some of the opponents is to discredit the municipal council and even the new charter. The temporary loan should be disposed of in the most reasonable way this year so that it will be no longer the nightmare of our city government.

It is true that a great many automobile accidents are due to skidding of the wheels on soft or wet ground, and to prevent this autoists are equipping their tires with anti-skid chains. This may be an effective remedy but it is very severe on roads. Moreover it can never compensate for carelessness on the part of the chauffeur.

Meat is being largely exported from Argentina to Austria and sold at a moderate price. Why not take down the tariff bars and let some of it in here to break down the trust prices that have gone to unprecedented heights?

CIRCUS TIME

CIRCUS TOMORROW
BARNUM AND BAILEYBiggest Show on Earth
at the Fair Grounds

What is a dikk-dik and why?

Goodness only knows, but you'll see one, and perhaps more, if you watch the Barnum & Bailey circus parade tomorrow morning, which from all signs is certainly going to be some parade. Almost three miles of parade are promised—three miles of scintillating, iridescent, gorgeous, glittering, glamorous, awe-inspiring, traffic disturbing cavalcade, interspersed with elephants, bands, camels, wombats, steam callopes and a little of everything else under the sun, stretched out in such a long review that the weary van-guard will almost have returned to the show grounds before the tail end has even started. Notice that "almost" please. The mind when turned circusward, runs to superlatives and one's imagination is inclined to be unruly. Quite pardonable, this, when one is told of the wonders to come—elephants, bee-

you-ful women, bee-you-fuler horses, open dens of wild beasts, ornate floats and caravans of camels. Oh, those camels! They look as if they had been made of the remnants of creation. One can readily understand how the yoked, on seeing his first camel, stood awe-struck in front of the beast murmuring to himself: No, no; there 'ain't no such 'critter.'

Then there will be the splendid horses, the pride of the circus. There will be 12, and whose conditions allow 24 of these splendid fellows drawing the leading band chariot, and the man who finds two reins perplexing when he takes his girl out for a lively stable ride on Sunday, can look with wonder at the nonchalant charioteer who pilots this remarkable "hitch."

Add to the horses and animals the more than 1600 people in the moving column, all of them in spic and span wardrobe, and one begins to have a skin-milk idea of the feat in store. There may be carking who will affect to see tawdriness behind the tinsel. Let 'em stay away! There will be enough people without them to fill the streets to suffocation, and fill the hearts of the traffic policeman with anguish. The circus, itself, is promised to be the very last word in excellence, and the circus folks say the dictionary would be torn into shreds in even a feeble effort to do it justice. For the greater part the program is new and presents features never before seen. The show opens with a magnificent spectacle entitled "Cleopatra," a wordless play depicting Cleopatra's meeting with Antony—the great historical meeting which has been sung in poetry and

Painted on canvas by the most talented masters. The story is told with an immense cast of over 1000 persons and a large ballet. Costumes, properties and trappings are in keeping with the period involved and the music was especially arranged for this production, far and away, the most elaborate ever attempted under canvas.

The athletic program embraces the foremost experts in their respective lines of endeavor. Chief among the absolutely new features are the Mikado's royal troupe of athletes comprising champion wrestlers and experts in Jiu-Jitsu—May Wirth, the marvelous young Australian girl who is conceded by the greatest rider of the times, if not of all time; the Silvas, Portuguese equilibristas—The Berio's—the Berns brothers, Switzerland's strongest men—Kate Sandwina, the female Hercules, and many other names representing the very aristocracy of the circus world. The trained animal numbers are in great variety and of surpassing interest. Of course there are over two score, and they furnish all kinds of nonsense. The menagerie is more than ever varied and comprehensive and presents as an unusual feature a baby giraffe born last January. At night the cages are lit by electricity as is the "big top." The performances are at 2 and 8 o'clock, doors being opened at 1 and 7 o'clock. All day tomorrow tickets may be purchased at Hall & Lyons drug store, at exactly the same prices charged at the show grounds. The parade will be over the usual route from the Fair Grounds and will be three miles long.

Safety, health and comfort all argue for the divided skirts and astride riding. If American horsewomen will listen to Miss Mary Wirth, the Australian miss, whose feats of equestrianism are a sensational feature with the Barnum & Bailey circus. Miss Wirth literally "grew up" on horseback and in conducting the side-saddle she speaks with the authority of experience and close, technical observation.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding was solemnized this morning when Mr. Maxine Paquette, the well known wood dealer of West Centralville and Miss Marie Flore Simonau, a popular young woman of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock at St. Louis' church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. R. A. Forlier. The choir of the Children of Mary sodality rendered appropriate hymns during the mass. The young couple were attended by Mr. Conrad Paquette and Miss Amelia Clara as best man and bridesmaid, respectively. After the ceremony the happy couple repaired to the home of the bridegroom's mother, 754 Aiken street, where a dainty breakfast was served. This evening a reception will be held at the same address. Mr. and Mrs. Paquette who were the recipients of many costly gifts will leave tomorrow for their wedding tour across the states of Maine and New Hampshire. They will return in 10 days and will make their home at 754 Aiken street.

LORRAIN-DEMERS

The wedding of Mr. Jean Baptiste L. Lorrain and Miss Louise Emma Demers was solemnized this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at 8 o'clock at Notre Dame de Lourdes church. Rev. Leon Lamothe, O. M. I. officiating. The happy couple were attended by Mr. Joseph Lorrain and Miss Helene Demers. After the mass a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 35 Puffer street.

THE BIG CIRCUS

WILL UNLOAD AT MEADOWCROFT STREET TOMORROW

Barnum & Bailey's greatest show on earth is playing in Fitchburg today and it is expected that it will arrive in this city very early tomorrow morning. The people who get up and enjoy the arrival of the elephants and the other animals do not want to go to Western avenue tomorrow, for if they do there will be no scenery, as the circus will unload on Meadowcroft streets just in the rear of the fair grounds. The railroad company had a crew of men working in that vicinity yesterday and today and everything is in readiness for taking care of the show.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Of the many good things scheduled in this week's bill at the Merrimack Square Theatre, none should prove more enjoyable than the offering by The Temple Players, entitled "In Japan." The act is a new and original creation. It has scored one of the biggest hits of these popular players in the other cities where they have appeared and should win merited recognition with local theatregoers. It is a spectacular combination of artistic features, bright song-hits and dances that make up an

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

One glance at the big bill offered for the first three days of this week and you are going to witness a performance. Manager Stevens has made a ten strike in securing Spica's Royal Vaudeville band of 20 pieces as the headline attraction this week. This celebrated organization which is touring America with great success is considered one of the finest concert bands before the public. It gives classical and popular music. The three Sherry Sisters, not the Cherry Sisters, make no mistake, are classy singers and cabaret dancers. They wear sumptuous gowns and are of the order of the vaudeville bill. Including "The High Cost of Living," the latest hit of the Edison films. The Keith cooling plant is now in full operation and it matters not how warm the weather may be the temperature of the interior of the theatre is delightfully cool.

CASE OF LARCENY BY SUPPOSED CROOK

Under Name of Collins and Various Aliases

A man who gave the name of Joseph Collins and several other names was arrested last Thursday by Patrolman John H. Clark for alleged larceny of a revolver and was arraigned in police court today before Judge Fisher on three complaints charging him with feloniously breaking and entering a house at 302 Middlesex street and another at 355 Central street and stealing therefrom silk handkerchiefs, a pair of shoes and a shirt, the property of Ahmad Handi; an umbrella and two pieces of coin from Mohammed Hassan, and a pair of opera glasses, $5 in cash and a pin from Osman Hassan. Defendant entered a plea of not guilty.

The owners of the stolen goods all testified that they went to work on Thursday morning and when they returned in the evening they found their door locked but the trunks were broken open. They also identified all the goods as their property. An employee of a Middlesex street pawn shop testified that on last Thursday defendant sold him a pair of opera glasses for 50 cents and in the evening he returned and tried to sell him a revolver. Patrolman J. H. Clark, who made the arrest, said he saw Collins in the pawn shop trying to sell a revolver. When he came out he said he followed him as far as the railroad station and there placed him under arrest. Patrolman Clark said he asked his prisoner his name and the latter said Joseph Collins, jeweler, and also said he lived in Providence. He said the prisoner also told him earlier in the day he sold a pair of opera glasses for 50 cents and at that time gave him the name of Joseph Gleason, showman, 412 Tremont street, Worcester. He said he came to Lowell a couple of days previous in going away to Boston.

Collins, testifying in his own behalf, said he purchased all the goods he is charged with stealing in Providence, and said the umbrella was the property of a friend in Providence. When shown a piece of coin which was found in his pocket he denied any knowledge of it. He pleaded his case as only a lawyer would, asking several important questions of the witnesses. At the close of the testimony the court found defendant guilty and continued his case until Thursday morning for sentence, bail being fixed at $500.

The case of Thomas F. Brown, who is charged with the larceny of a coat valued at $10 and a pair of pants worth $5, was continued till tomorrow.

William Ryan and a youth named Healey were both arraigned on complaints charging them with assault and battery on Louis A. Sears and also with robbing him. They both pleaded not guilty but after hearing the evidence, the court found probable cause and held both for the superior court, bail being fixed at $500 each.

Joseph Critchley, arrested for drunkenness, said he was with the crowd but did not take a hand in the assault. He said he saw Ryan and Healey assault Sears. Patrolman Gilchrist, who arrested both defendants, testified that he was attracted on the scene of the battle by the shouts of Sears. He told the court that when he arrived near the crowd the young man started on a run. He chased and arrested Healey and Ryan in Graham street. The complainant alleges that $250 was taken away from him in the scuffle.

BILLS WERE APPROVED BY MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

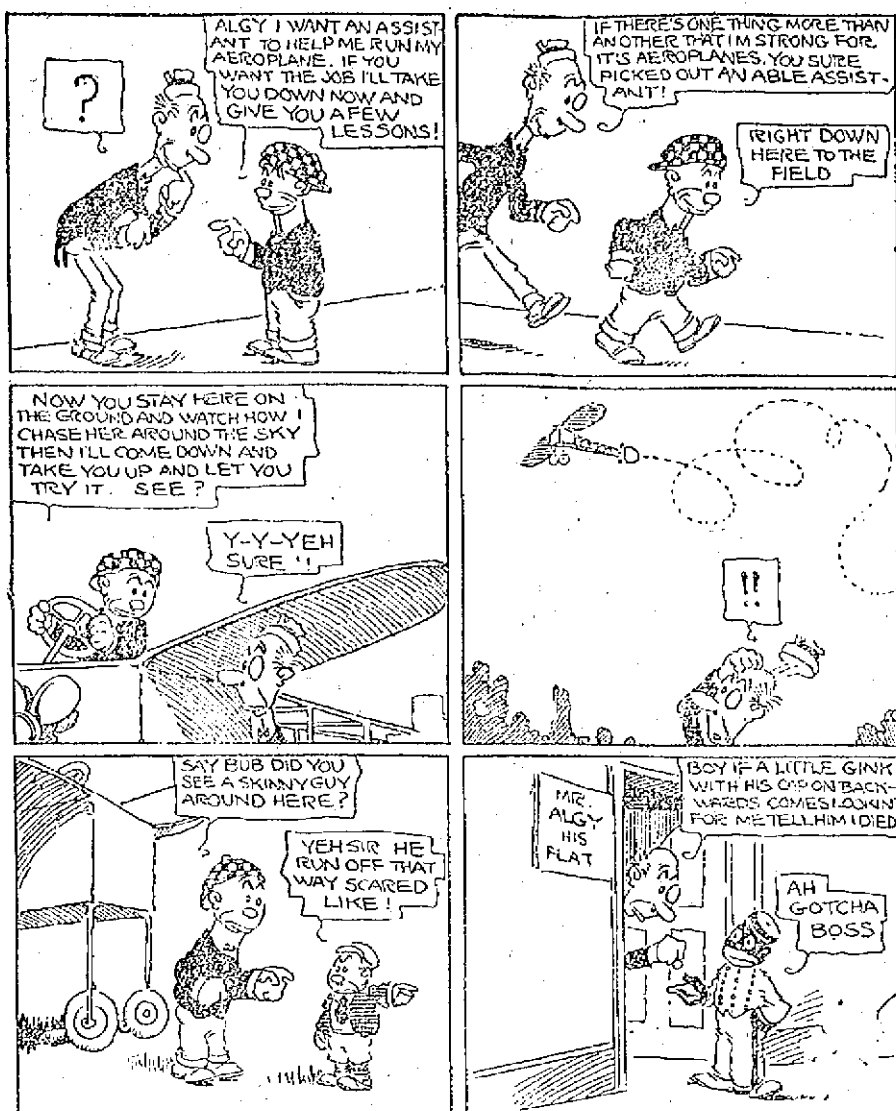

Four Members Were Present at Meeting

The municipal council met, as the committee on accounts, at 9:30 o'clock this morning for the purpose of approving department bills for the month. Commissioner Donnelly was not present and word was received by telephone that he would not arrive at city hall before 11 o'clock. The monthly bills, however, were approved by the other four members of the council, but the hearing having to do with City Treasurer Stiles was postponed until the afternoon. The hearing will have to do with the city finances and inasmuch as Mr. Donnelly is finance commissioner it was believed he should be present at the meeting, hence the postponement.
